'ANARCHY' EDITORIAL IN COURT

Henry Ford Says He Seldom Reads Beyond the Headlines in the Newspapers

By International News Service.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., July 18.—For the first time since the trial began, ten weeks ago, the heart of the Henry Ford-Chicago Tribune suit was reached today, when the editorial entitled "Ford Is an Anarchist" was read in court.

Ford, who thinks the publication of the editorial did him $1,000,000 damage, was on the stand and listened quietly to the reading.

In connection with the reading of the editorial Ford asserted that reading of newspapers seldom took him beyond the headlines, but declared his belief that a headline should accurately represent the contents of the story. Introduction of the editorial came suddenly when Attorney Elliott Stevenson asked:

"Are you familiar with the editorial captioned 'Ford Is an Anarchist'?"

"Well, I've heard it thirty or forty times," Ford answered.

Stevenson then read the editorial and asked: "Is there anything in that about throwing bombs?" referring to Ford's definition of an Anarchist as a man who would "throw bombs."

Ford's counsel objected to the question and Stevenson said: "This man says his feelings have been in-

ARMY AIR SERVICE CUT TO 'MERE SHELL'

Washington, July 18.—"The United States will have no active flying service after September 1," Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, declared in the Senate this afternoon. "The Army Air Service is reduced to a mere shell," Senator Wadsworth said, "by the failure of Congress to make a sufficient appropriation for aviation. There won't be more than a dozen flying officers after September 1."

Dr. Charles Fleischer, leader of the Sunday Commons, and formerly pastor of the Congregation Adath Israel is engaged to be married to Miss Mabel Leslie of Brookline, a prominent woman lawyer, according to announcement just made. Rabbi Fleischer said today that the wedding was planned for this Summer.

"It is distinctly a democratic marriage," he explained, "and one which will permit both of us to develop our individualities and to continue in our chosen professions. Miss Leslie will continue to practice law and I will continue to preach."

Miss Leslie was born in Canada, but removed to Vermont as a child. She graduated from Boston University Law School last year, and is now associated in practice with Marion Weston Cottle, one of the leading women lawyers of Boston and New York. She is an ardent American, Dr. Fleischer says.

REOPENS FIGHT OVER DAYLIGHT SAVING

By International News Service.

Washington, July 18.—The House agriculture committee, by a majority action, reported favorably today the agricultural appropriation bill carrying a provision repealing the daylight saving law, as affecting the hour of daylight saving between the last of March and the last of October in each year, but preserving the zone standard times.

The House rule committee adopted a rule making this a privileged item in the agricultural appropriation bill and in this state the fight for the daylight saving law is to be waged all over again in Congress.

CHICAGO CONTRACTORS LOCK OUT 100,000 MEN

Chicago, July 18.—Approximately 100,000 workmen affiliated with building trades unions were locked out by building contractors today and millions of dollars worth of construction work was halted. The lockout followed refusal of the workmen to respond to an ultimatum from the building contractors' employers' association that unless the men called off strikes that have been in progress for several weeks all construction work would be stopped.

ANXIETY AT MAYOR'S ABSENCE

Believed Drifting in Yacht on Maine Coast; Secretary Moore in Vain Search

A sense of alarm spread through the city today when it was definitely established that Mayor Andrew J. Peters and Mrs. Peters were drifting somewhere off the coast of Maine in a small yacht with no auxiliary engine as aid to get them safely back to land.

Edward Moore, the Mayor's secretary, telephoned Corporation Counsel Alexander Whiteside from Rockland, Me., today that he had just returned from the Peters private island, off the Maine shore, and found that the Mayor and his wife had not returned from the cruise on which they set out three or four days ago.

It is not known definitely whether the five Peters children went on the cruise or not. But it is believed that they were left with someone on shore.

But Moore was not sure either way.

Moore arrived at Rockland Wednesday night, but was unable, on account of fog, to get out to the Peters island, which is off the Maine coast town of North Haven, until early today.

Moore wished to get in touch with the Mayor on account of the Elevated strike, which was impending. He might the secretary arrived at Rockland.

It would seem as though the Mayor's craft was still outside, because, if it had put in at any of the Maine coast points, the Mayor would have lost no time in getting in communication with Boston on account of the strike situation.

Moore told the Corporation Counsel that, while the coast was blanketed with fog today, a calm prevailed and the water was smooth.

COMPLETE SHIPPING TIE UP

Clyde and Ocean Steamship Lines Suspend; Police Called in Fish Strike Clash

Embargoes on freight consigned to Boston for reshipment were declared today as a result of the marine workers' strike. Both the Clyde line and the Ocean Steamship Company, operating the Savannah liners, have suspended operations in this port until the strike is settled.

The City of Augusta arrived here today from Savannah, was discharged and tied up, being the last of the fleet to discontinue sailings. The entire Boston fleet is now tied up at this port.

The Shipping Board steamer Artigas, formerly a German liner, arrived from Buenos Ayres with a cargo of wool and hides, and was also put out of commission.

Shipping interests were disappointed today to learn that a conference in New York between the Shipping Board and representatives of the American Steamship Association, with officials of the unions, was unsuccessful.

There was some trouble today at the fish pier when the New Bedford fishing steamer Virginia attempted to unload swordfish. Pickets interfered and the police were called from Station 6 and the police boat summoned. The unloading then proceeded.

James Nickerson, delegate of the fishermen's union, left for New York today, where he will attempt to tie up fishing operations there. The local union has secured the services of an attorney who is going over the opinion of Attorney-General Attwill relative to the establishment of a minimum price for fish. It is believed the matter may be taken to the Supreme Court.

During the past week only a quarter million pounds of ground fish were received in Boston as compared with nearly three millions for the same period last year.

265 WOUNDED AMONG TROOPS AT NEW YORK

New York, July 18.—The transport Northern Pacific arrived today with 2,345 overseas troops, including 265 wounded, who were placed aboard a hospital train for Camp Merritt. GERMANS TO APOLOGIZE FOR FRENCHMAN'S DEATH

Berlin, July 18.—Following a meeting at the War Ministry to discuss the killing of Sergeant Mancheim of the French military mission, announcement was made by War Office officials that a conciliatory note would be sent to Paris in reply to the French representations demanding a heavy fine for the crime. The chief of police of Berlin, Herr Ernst, has been summoned to Weimar for examination by the cabinet.

No Excuse for Vacant Seats in Your Auto! Give a Lift!

AUTOISTS!

Give a lift during the trolley tieup.

The Greater Boston public is suffering untold inconvenience through the cessation of car service on the Boston Elevated system in the big strike. Steam transportation is impractical for many.

Thousands of persons, women and girls particularly, walked to work today, while limousines, touring cars and other motor vehicles bowled comfortably along, carrying only the owner or chauffeur.

Autoists are urged to help pedestrians in this emergency by offering rides wherever possible.

URGE NEW PLAN FOR ACTION ON THE TREATY

By International News Service.

Washington, July 18.—Republican senators who were to discuss the peace treaty with the President at the White House today, as well as those who conferred with him there yesterday, expressed the opinion today that the Senate's ratification of the document might be expedited by an agreement that senators be permitted to interpret the Senate's acceptance of certain of the disputed provisions in a resolution of ratification.

Administration Senators stated that if the Senate's proposed interpretations were confined to explanatory ones, and could in no wise be construed, technically or otherwise, as actually amending or "reserving" the text of the treaty, they could see no objection to them if they were confined to the Monroe Doctrine, the constitutional right of Congress to involve the United States in war, immigration, the tariff and other domestic questions.

SEES EARLY RATIFICATION.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, a Republican advocate of the League of Nations, who saw the President yesterday but said he regarded his conference with the President "too confidential to discuss," admitted that he was still of the opinion that the President's desire to have the treaty speedily ratified by the Senate might be realized if those Senators opposed to it in its present form were allowed to record explanations of how they regarded

UNABLE TO AGREE ON ARBITRATOR

Governor Coolidge today suggested a new plan for ending the Elevated strike of 7,800 employes, which was contained in a suggestion that an arbitration board be selected containing neither counsel for the carmen nor the Elevated.

The deadlock between striking employes of the Elevated and the trustees was still on at 2 o'clock today. The chances of an early settlement were bettered, however, according to Trustee Samuel L. Powers.

Following telephonic communication between the trustees and the strike committee a conference was started at No. 101 Milk street at 2 o'clock, which Mr. Powers believed would result in the selection of a third man for the local board of arbitration.

The refusal of the strike committee to accept a third man is understood to be holding up the settlement of the strike which has tied up the Elevated system and is hourly causing increasing injury to business.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—Harry S. New, Jr., confessed slayer of his sweetheart, Freda Lesser, today pleaded not guilty to the Grand Jury indictment charging him with murder in the first degree, before Superior Judge Gavin W. BRITISH MINERS REFUSE COAL RATE COMPROMISE

Keswick, England, July 18.—By an overwhelming vote the Miners' Federation at its conference here rejected the compromise plan offered by Andrew Bonar Law which provided for holding up the increase in the price of coal on condition that the miners increased the output materially and would not strike for two months.

CALL NEW CONFERENCE TO PICK THIRD MAN FOR ARBITRATION

GOVERNOR, TRUSTEES AND STRIKE LEADERS MEET

The carmen's committee this morning had failed to attend a scheduled conference with the trustees at No. 101 Milk street, going into executive session at the Quincy House instead.

While the trustees waited in their offices where the conference was planned for 11:30, the strike committee telephoned that they were unable to be present, but would appear later.

This action followed a conference in the office of Governor Coolidge early today, at which the names of a number of men were discussed for a third member of a board of arbitration, without success.

James H. Vahey, counsel for the carmen's union, denied that the strike committee had refused to accept a local man because of fear of public prejudice.

"That statement is not true," said Mr. Vahey. "The strike committee is willing to accept any man who is capable of refereeing the matter. Asked if it were true that the carmen had turned down the names of four men suggested by the governor, Mr. Vahey refused to make any reply.

Shortly after it became known that the strike committee had failed to keep their appointment with the trustees, Acting Mayor Ford was summoned to the office of Governor Coolidge. He would make no statement, but it is believed that the call was in connection with the strike.

HAS "NOTHING TO SAY."

At the conclusion of the early conference in the governor's office, Secretary Long told the reporters that the governor Coolidge had nothing to say. On being told that the public was vitally interested and desired some knowledge of what was being done, the secretary again talked with the Governor. He later quoted the governor's idea as being he was doing all he could to bring about a settlement and was ready to co-operate in any way.

Secretary Long said that the main suggestion to be discussed was that the third member of the board, was rejected by the carmen. Mr. Long refused to make public the name of this man, on the ground that he might eventually be selected to serve with James H. Vahey for the employes, and J. Ware Putnam for the road.

The secretary also stated that during the conference the names of dozens of men were mentioned, but it was impossible for the conferees to come to an agreement. It was evident that the carmen wanted only a man who is favorable to union labor and would not be any other. Governor Coolidge, however, was insistent that a man be selected to represent the people, in that the board might be thus balanced.

A short time later it was announced that Henry J. Skeffington, Department of Labor conciliator assigned to the local strike, had ordered Washington that he be selected. He would be selected with Charlton Ogburn, examiner of the War Labor Board, as the third member. Mr. Skeffington has his services yesterday, having received telephonic information from Chief Justice William H. Taft.

It is understood, however, that the names of Mr. Ogburn and Mr. Skeffington were rejected by the trustees.

FILES BILL OF EQUITY.

It was feared that an amicable basis of settlement would be further delayed when it was learned that State Treasurer Charles Burrill had been notified early today that a bill of equity had been filed in the Supreme Court by Corporation Counsel Alexander Whiteside restraining the State treasurer once to the Elevated nearly $1,000,000 to cover its deficit.

At the conference today there were present besides the governor, Trustees Powers, John F. Stevens, Stanley R. Miller and Winthrop Coffin. Mr. Vahey also was present as were the members of the strike committee, including Thomas F. Shine, John H. Reardon, Michael J. Flaherty, William J. Timmins, Timothy J. Mahoney, Charles H. Clark and John J. Cronin.

Committee Is Without Power to Order the Men Back

No power to order the striking men back to work is vested in the conference committee of the Carmen's Union, according to Thomas F. Shine and John H. Reardon, international officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America and members of the conference committee, together with Attorney James H. Valey, President Matthew C. Hughes, William Timmins, business agent; Charles H. Clark, Timothy J. Mahoney and John J. Cronin.

To get the men together for a big mass meeting before late this afternoon would be a physical impossibility, said Mr. Reardon and Mr. Shine.

Whiteside Files Bill Holding Up $3,980,151.67 Check for Elevated

Corporation Counsel Alexander Whiteside today filed a bill in equity in the Supreme Court restraining State Treasurer Charles L. Burrill from payment of nearly $4,000,000 to the Elevated to make up its deficit.

This action was taken in behalf of the city of Boston, whose share of the amount is approximately $2,500,000, in order that an investigation may be made of the Elevated's charges for depreciation, maintenance and repair.

According to Corporation Counsel Whiteside there is some question as to whether or not these charges are proper, and he has taken this means of protecting the city until the question is settled.

State Treasurer Burrill was notified early today of the filing of the bill in equity, at which time he had planned to deal a check made out for $3,980,151.67 which he was about to send over to the Elevated.

Under the legislative act, the State is called on to pay the deficit of the road at the end of the fiscal year, this deficit to be assessed on the cities and towns which are served by the Elevated if anything.

In consequence of the corporation counsel's act, it is learned that he will demand an investigation of the Elevated's books, in order to ascertain if the charges are fair. Any of the other cities and towns concerned would have the right, under the law, to take the same action, provided there was a question as to the road's charges.

Attorney Rowley Urges Elevated Strikers to Return to Their Jobs

The striking employes of the Elevated today were urged to return to work by Clarence W. Rowley, Boston attorney, who promised that he would use every honorable effort to secure a square deal for the men.

Mr. Rowley also asked the men if they would agree to three points which he named, including their return to work, no further interruption of public service and arbitration. Boards of labor, a fair settlement of all disputes, the formation of a board of arbitration of which he is one of the present Elevated trustees, revocation of all charters and franchises of the Elevated and the West End roads without compensation, the taking from the Elevated and the West End by right of eminent domain all cars, tracks, power houses, equipment and property, and the turning over at actual value of the same to a new company formed by the public and an amendment to the State constitution providing for a permanent court of industrial equity, with jurisdiction over all labor questions.

Cambridge Trade Board Urges Mayor Quinn to Suspend Traffic Rules

As a result of delay in Cambridge in the matter of issuing jitney licenses, the Cambridge Board of Trade today sent to Mayor Quinn a letter urging immediate action. Suspension of the traffic rules is asked, in view of the hourly need for transportation to take the place of the Elevated service.

The City Council of Cambridge has referred the matter to a committee to meet Aug. 6. Following this action, the Board of Trade has been overwhelmed with requests from business and professional men to take the matter up.

In a letter to Mayor Quinn signed by Fred G. Perkins, secretary, the board points out that the emergency confronting the city will, without doubt, grow in intensity as the hours go by.

It concludes its appeal: "Every hour lost means an hour lost trade, lost revenue, lost opportunity and lost temper. This surely is the time for action and not for excuses rather than contemplation. The Board of Trade cannot too strongly suggest immediate action, and it hereby tenders its formal plea for immediate suspension of the rules."

Bay State Trustees Hear Suggestions on Fare Districts

The public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, formerly the Bay State Street Railway, today heard suggestions from the representatives of cities and towns served by the road as to how the fare districts shall be established.

Mayor William L. Gleason of Brockton asks for a fare district having a radius of eight miles from Brockton.

City Solicitor Tracey of Taunton held that the Taunton-Fall River line should be a fare district with the larger part of the financial expense placed upon Fall River because of its larger size.

City Solicitor George Grime of Fall River wanted a fare district from Fall River to Dighton Rock Park.

Mayor Whitton of Quincy wanted the fare district to extend from that city to the Milton line on the west, the South, Weymouth line on the south and the Boston line on the north.

Town Counsel James A. Hallieran of Norwood, representing Dedham, Walpole and Westwood, asked the trustees to submit any fare plan affecting those towns to their approval.

Department of the Northeast Sends Out Trucks for Employes

Big army trucks were employed by the Department of the Northeast to convey employes, including women stenographers and soldiers, to the offices at No. 99 Chauncy street. Two of the trucks plied between Waltham and Boston. Those who rode in them, especially the girls, said the experience was pleasant and preferred the high-powered trucks with their portable seats to riding in a street car.

The trucks started from Watertown square, where residents of Waltham and Watertown were taken on board. They passed through Newton, where others were picked up, and the ride to the city was made in extra quick time.

Winsor Weld of Chestnut Hill, Brookline, has been decorated by the Greek government for his service with the American Red Cross Mission to Greece, according to a message received yesterday at the headquarters of the New England Division, American Red Cross. Agreement Today Probable, Wires Skeffington

By International News Service.

Washington, July 18.—H. J. Skeffington, Department of Labor conciliator assigned to the strike of Elevated railway workers at Boston, today wired the department that he believed it would be agreed today to leave the settlement of the trouble to an arbitration board consisting of Charlton Ogburn, examiner of the National War Labor Board; Vahey, counsel for the men, and Barnum, counsel for the trustees of the road.

"Public sentiment is against the strikers," he added.

Ogburn, at his offices here, stated he would be willing to serve on the arbitration board only if the men returned to work pending consideration of their case.

"It is not arbitration while the men are still out," he asserted.

Full Rank for Sims and Pershings Urged by Wilson

By International News Service.

Washington, July 18.—President Wilson this afternoon urged Congress to confer the permanent rank of general on General John J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary forces, and Chief of Staff Peyton C. March, and the permanent rank of admiral on Admiral William S. Benson, chief of naval operations, and Admiral William S. Sims, who was in command of naval forces in European waters.

Wanted--a Husband for Lonesome Blonde Who Has Money

Blonde, under thirty, lonesome, wants husband; must be good and kind; may smoke in house and sit in his shirt sleeves.

This is the substance of a letter received by the Wakefield Board of Selectmen from Miss Maybelle H. Carey of Albany, N. Y. The fame of Wakefield's puny eligible bachelors has penetrated to the Hudson, and Miss Carey doesn't see why she should not apply. Or, in paraphrase of a famous slogan: "Eventually, some girl; why not Maybelle?"

The fair applicant says she has some money and weighs 130 pounds. Her letter was signed by John J. Round, chairman of the Selectmen, who is a bachelor.

DOG USES MAN TO LIGHT ON IN HIS LONG LEAP

Alexandria, Ind., July 18.—Dr. J. F. Hall walked out of his office on the second floor of a downtown building and locked the door. His dog stood on the ledge of the open office window and barked at the departing physician, but he barked in vain. A workman was repairing a water tap beneath the barking dog. A leap and the canine alighted safely upon the shoulders of the workman, who toppled over. The dog ran up to his master, barked and wagged his tail knowingly.

APPEAL SENTENCES IN JEWELRY THEFT

Jose S. Cao and Charles Cooper who were found guilty of larceny in the Municipal Court today by Judge Dowd and were sentenced to two years each in the House of Correction. They appealed and were held in $5,000 bonds each. On July 8 the men were arrested after a fight in a Tremont street jewelry store charged with stealing a number of bracelets valued at $1,000. It was charged by the police that they also stole jewelry valued at about $500 from four other Boston stores.

R. I. TROLLEY MEN TAKE VOTE TO STRIKE

Tieup Scheduled for Midnight Tonight—Mail Cars Will Run

Providence, R. I., July 18 — The street car men of Rhode Island have voted in strike at midnight tonight. The tieup will affect street car lines all over the State.

The Street Carmen's Union unanimously agreed to the action without a record vote after a three hours' meeting. The action was additional upon the union officials being unable today to come to a satisfactory agreement with the receivers of the Rhode Island Company.

The riding public, with the experience of Boston prominent in mind, are awaiting developments with keen interest.

DEMAND 75 CENTS AN HOUR.

The Rhode Island street car men are demanding a maximum wage of 75 cents an hour. The War Labor Board has their case under consideration. They are at present receiving a maximum of 43 cents an hour.

The receivers of the road, which has lines all over the State and in Providence, say that if the men strike tonight the cars will be locked up in the barns.

WILL RUN MAIL CARS.

The only cars that they will attempt to operate will be specials to carry mail. More than 7,000 employes of the Rhode Island Company, approximately 10% per cent. of the company's employes, belong to the union.

International Vice-President P. J. Gilfillen, John J. Fitzgerald, counsel for the union, and the officers of the union all opposed radical action, and urged the men to wait for the decision of the War Labor Board.

Mayor Gainer appealed to the men today to await action of the War Labor Board.

Receivers of the Rhode Island Company appealed to the police and other authorities this afternoon for protection to the several millions dollars worth of trolley property in the event of the strike.

The board of police guaranteed an ample number of policemen, and the sea riot guns were made ready for service.

HELD FOR FORGERY AGAINST RED CROSS

Joseph D. Guertin was arraigned before Judge Dowd in Municipal Court today on the charge of forging an order on the Red Cross and securing comfort kits valued at $100. Probable cause was found and he was held in $1,000 for the grand jury.

STRIKE SIDELIGHTS

South Boston citizens have moved their beds into Boston, owing to the car strike. This applies particularly to residents of the city Point district, which is the hardest hit by the strike. "They have rented rooms in Boston, a great many of them," explained a South Boston patrolman, "and have spent the night on the Common to be cool and near their work in the morning."

A procession of vans fitted up as hikes came from South Boston all day long. The fare is to assist in their very evident lingly patronized.

According to older employes of the Elevated, who live in South Boston, this strike came against their will, due to the agitation of younger men who recently joined the service.

More extra trains were run from Brookline, Brighton, Allston and Roxbury into the city this morning. Although thousands of residents of those sections walked to work, the trains were greatly improved over yesterday. A score of jitney lines sprang up over night. Regular jitney service is being provided between Brookline Village and Park square and between Coolidge Corner and Park square. Yesterday, to-day, hundreds of autos speeded in along Beacon street empty, save for the strike cars, which had no invitation to pedestrians placing their way to work.

* * *

Automobile owners today demonstrated that they knew how to divert their cars to produce a minimum of congestion. The traffic on Tremont, Washington and other downtown streets was surprisingly light in view of the L strike. The traffic policeman kept the vehicles moving with little or no trouble. Some of the traffic squad said there were fewer automobiles on them at the same time Thursday. The real cause of the lack of congestion, however, was that motorists had adopted the side streets.

Between prohibition and the carmen's strike, Tremont street is like a village highway, according to residents of that section. But the transportation of persons on motor cars is little as trains carry five minutes. At 4:30 cars in a body run during the rush hours. At other times the trains run hourly. These stations are located at the corner of the Plymouth Branch station, the Shawmut and the Midland.

* * *

Dorchester residents who are hit the hardest are those in the Victory Flats. Two thousand men yesterday failed to report for work there. Many of the men rent automobiles in order to get to work.

President Melvin O. Adams of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad (the "Narrow Gauge") has ordered that all cars shall stops at Harbor View and Wood Island Park to accommodate residents of those districts. Extra cars were added.

Sightseers will have to wait until the middle of the day during the strike if they desire to ride on "rubbernneck" wagons. The companies operating these buses have found it more profitable to use them for hauling suburbanites to work. The buses were put to this work today, making three or four trips during the morning from the railroad stations to central points for a fare of 15 cents. They will operate again during the evening.

* * *

No longer do colonels and rear-admirals on duty in Boston ride in solitary state to their offices in the government's machines. They are more likely than not to have a "buck" or "gob" sitting alongside. All army and navy cars have been pressed into service, and beginning early in the morning are at the railroad stations to take men connected with the service to their places of duty.

The small body of a Page & Shaw truck was made to haul ten passengers from Roxbury and the South Station today to the company's plant in Cambridge. The ton of the body is scarcely four feet from the floor and many of the employes found it a problem, so as to sit without getting a crook in the neck. Shipping boxes had been placed inside for seats.

If you live in Dorchester, watch out for the jitney de luxe when you go home. A truck with a heavily upholstered, divan, apparently taken out of someone's parlor, was seen on the downtown streets today.

One owner of an automobile has the right spirit. He sent his car and driver to Park square in time for the homecoming crowds Thursday evening, on the side of the machine was the following sign: "Free trips to Harvard Avenue—for Ladies Only."

Service to Somerville was greatly improved today by many extra trains added to the Boston & Maine. These ran from 6:30 through the morning rush hours. From 7:30 to 8:30 a stream of trains made the road black from Somerville to Boston. Despite the fact that the Somerville Board of Aldermen voted to repeal the registration required of jitneys, to allow anybody to run a jitney without a license, very few were seen in Somerville. The few were motor trucks, fitted up with chairs. Citizens of Somerville preferred the trains.

RAILROADS EXTEND SCHEDULES TO ACCOMMODATE STRIKE VICTIMS

ADD MANY SPECIAL TRAINS

Express Trains Sidetracked in Some Instances for Suburban Travel

With their first day's experience of the Elevated strike to guide them, steam roads handled the suburban travel in a greatly improved manner today. Extra trains and shuttle service were added to get the suburbanites to their work on time. In some instances express trains were sidetracked for the suburban travel.

The greatest trouble for the railroads comes at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. With the closing of factories, shops and offices it seems that everyone in Boston goes to the North and South stations intent on getting the first train out. Railroad officials say that at that hour their task seems almost insurmountable. But by 6:30 the depots are normal again.

PUT ON SHUTTLE TRAINS.

Five additional shuttle trains to Dorchester were put on the New York, New Haven & Hartford today. These ran back and forth to Boston during the rush hours. One extra train to Dorchester, Mattapan and Forest Hills has been installed, and during the middle of the day there is a train every half-hour to Dedham.

Although an exact count of passenger travel had not been made, officials of the steam roads do not believe more people were transported today than Thursday. They say, however, that the suburbanites were carried in greater comfort, on account of the added shuttle service, the trains were not as crowded as on the first day of the strike, and fewer passengers had to stand. No accidents were reported.

TO IMPROVE SERVICE.

Twenty extra shuttle trains were installed on the Boston & Maine running to Cambridge, Arlington, West Medford and Fitchburg. These operated on an hourly basis, augmenting the road. A conference of traffic officials of this road was held today, from which still further improvement of the suburban service was expected to result.

Fifteen new trains were put on today by the Boston & Albany, between the South Station and Riverside. The schedule operated smoothly and passengers did not have to wait long for a train at the suburban stations. Traffic officials are preparing for the noon rush Saturday. The extra trains which have been running evenings will be switched to handle the homegoing crowds between noon and 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

These two South Boston girls don't care how long it takes them to reach Adams square. Who is the "pretty baby" and who the fair perambulator pusher? That, as Mr. Kipling would have it, is another story.

Irish Troops Guard Marshal Foch in London

By International News Service.

London, July 18.—Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies, arrived from France today to take part in the peace celebration tomorrow. Great crowds cheered the famous soldier as he was driven to the Carlton Hotel.

Field Marshal Haig and scores of other notables greeted the marshal at the railway station and extended formal welcome.

A guard of honor composed of Irish troops accompanied the marshal while bands played the national anthem, the "Marseillaise" and the "March of the Men of Harlech."

"The honor you have bestowed upon me, similar to that which you once conferred upon former President Roosevelt, is of special significance, for that great American was ever the friend of Great Britain and her people," declared General John J. Pershing today when the freedom of the city was presented to him at Guildhall. "This occasion," he added, "is significant testimony of the sincerity of the sentiment you bear us."

SENTENCES TWO EX-SOLDIERS AS VAGRANTS

Newton Judge Then Suspends Sentence on Condition They Leave Town at Once

Two discharged soldiers, wearing uniforms and one of them the insignia of the 26th Division, were sentenced to three months each in the State Home at Bridgewater on a charge of vagrancy by Judge Bacon in the Newton Court today. Judge Bacon immediately suspended sentence and allowed them to go on the promise of both to leave the town forthwith.

The two ex-soldiers, looking seedy and dilapidated, gave their names as Joseph Lee, twenty-nine years old, of George street, Everett, and Arthur E. Walker, thirty-one, of Waltham street, Boston.

One witness testified that the men sought to collect money for the Y. M. C. A., another said they tried to collect enough money to pay their fare to Portland, Me. Still another witness said the two wanted money to go to Framingham, while a fourth witness said they had entered his home on the excuse that they were "government men" and "wanted to see that everything was all right."

The police say that Lee has been in court several times previously on charges of vagrancy, and the charges made against him included those of breaking and entering and larceny from the person. It was said that he had been three times discharged from the army as below the required standards, but had finally been inducted into the national army through the draft.

Launched Drive at Chateau Thierry a Year Ago Today

One year ago today Marshal Foch launched the great offensive that drove the Germans out of the Chateau Thierry salient, the first of the series of aggressive operations that brought the enemy to his knees. Three American divisions attacked on the opening day and nine American divisions had participated when the salient was wiped out.

The veteran First and Second American Divisions, with the famous Moroccan division between them, bore the brunt of the attack through the eastern edge of the Forest of Retz. They jumped off at 5:35 a. m., after only an hour's artillery preparation, and moved with such strides that the Second advanced five miles in four hours.

The Twenty-sixth Division New England National Guard attacked northwest of Chateau Thierry, captured Torcy and Belleau and reached Bourescbes village. The Third Division, east of Chateau Thierry, on the south bank of the Marne, merely marked time on the opening day, joining the attack three days later, when the Germans evacuated Chateau Thierry and the north bank of the Marne.

Before the salient was completely wiped out, these American divisions took part in the offensive: First, Second, Third, Fourth, Twenty-sixth (New England), Twenty-seventh (Pennsylvania), Thirty-second (Michigan and Wisconsin), Forty-second (Rainbow), and Seventy-seventh (New York National Army).

John D. Is Beaten in "Gas" Argument With a Woman

Portsmouth, N. H., July 18. If "John D." has to pay thirty cents a gallon for his own product, at least he is determined to get his money's worth. He stood out for his rights on this point today, protesting that the pump used to refuel his four automobiles did not give honest measure.

With a party of sixteen, he arrived at the Portsmouth Motor Mart, preparatory to his departure. John D. and his five daughters drove in the first car. He watched closely while it was pumped, and then called Mechanic C. Dickey, the station man.

"Does that pump give full measure?" demanded the billionaire.

Absolutely," answered Mrs. Dickey.

It doesn't look that way to me," said John D. "Will you please have that pump tested?"

This was done, and the pump passed the state inspector's examination.

"Well," remarked the oil king, after the first correct pump I've seen in New Hampshire. State boulevard, for Massachusetts."

HOUSING BILL KILLED BY VOTE OF 97 TO 13

Hays Intimates Some "Patriot" Has Land to Sell to City for Scheme

Any relief from the shortage of houses and consequent high rents in the metropolitan district will not come through the city of Boston the House decided today in killing a bill giving the city authority to seize land by eminent domain and spend $5,000,000 in erecting dwellings to be rented or sold to citizens of Boston.

City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, father of the bill, and when it was killed once before in the House by reference to the next general court, he succeeded in having the Senate substitute it for an adverse report. From the Senate to the higher branch, it came back to the House again for action.

Representative Hays of Boston intimated that some land owner was going to profit by the passage of this bill.

"What patriot owns the land involved in this $5,000,000 proposition?" he asked. "What politician has the land to sell?"

Representative Newhall declared that the bill was not supported by anyone in committee, and that there were 7,000 vacant tenements in Boston. He did not say where they were.

Representative Beardsley of Boston declared it was absolutely impossible to get tenements in Roxbury.

"The opponents of this bill," he charged, "are the real disciples of Lenine and bolshevism just as are those who favor ten-cent fares."

The defeat of the bill to a third reading the vote was 97 to 13 against such action.

THIRD PIONEER BOYS NOT COMING TO BOSTON

The War Department has decided that it is impracticable for the transports Agamemnon and Calliao, bringing many Massachusetts men of the 2d Pioneer Infantry from France, to touch in Boston, according to a telegram received by C. "I have just been advised," says Congressman Tinkham, "by General Hines that it is absolutely impracticable to divert the Mexican and the Seventy-sixth Division, part of the 2,500 men of the 3d Pioneer Infantry on board the Mexican only 248 belong in New England."

R. I. POLITICIANS TO IGNORE SUFFRAGE

Providence, July 18.—Rhode Island political leaders have no idea of calling a special session of the General Assembly to consider the suffrage amendment. This is the concensus of opinion after a hurried conference at the executive chamber between Governor Beeckman, who has told the women that while he favors suffrage he would not call a special session against the advice of party leaders.

Suffrage leaders have held daily conferences with the Governor and are hopeful that the leaders will give their sanction. The women have started a State-wide campaign and say that they hope to convince the objectors that it is good policy to consider the question before the General Assembly convenes in January, which will give time a tentative promise has been given the diligent and unceasing workers for suffrage.

Lawrence, July 18.—Joseph W. Gouvin, of No. 513 Chestnut street, Manchester, N. H., was arrested here for the police of that city in connection with the theft of four garages.

He was then taken back to Manchester by Chief of Police Michael Healey of that city.

GOV. COOLIDGE SIGNS SWIG BANK BILL

Also Approves Measure to Recompense Judge Hayden for Bomb Outrage

Governor Coolidge found time today, despite his efforts to assist in terminating the Elevated strike to an end, to sign four bills of importance.

The first of these was the Simon Swig bill, permitting the payment of interest monthly on deposits in savings banks and the savings department of trust companies. This was signed immediately on being received.

Another bill compensating Judge Albert P. Hayden of Jamaica Plain in the sum of $6,000 and Representative Leland F. Powers of Newton in the sum of $2,000 for damage to their homes by bombs.

The third bill prohibits by a fine of $1,000 and a year's imprisonment the unauthorized possession or control of bombs or other explosives and is intended to prevent a fourth outrage similar to those which partly wrecked the homes of Judge Hayden and Powers.

The fourth bill gives authority to members of the Legislature to administer oaths to applicants for the $100 war bonus up to September 1.

Simon Swig, vice-president of the Tremont Trust Company, received from Governor Coolidge today the bill with which he signed the monthly interest payment bill for which Mr. Swig was sponsor, and whose passage through the legislature was made possible by his efforts. Accompanying the pen was the following letter from the Governor:

"Dear Mr. Swig—I have this morning signed th bill which had just come before me from the Legislature entitled 'An act relative to the payment of dividends or interest on savings deposits'.

"I feel you would appreciate having the quill with which I signed it because of your devotion to it and because you have given so much energy and time to its passage.

(Signed) "CALVIN COOLIDGE."

She suggested was taken up by friends and a purse of $2,000 made up to give Mrs Franklyn if she completed the journey without riding on a train and on condition that she must not accept "gifts" of food, lodging or service.

Mrs Franklyn left Seattle on June 1 and arrived here on Wednesday. She weighed eighteen pounds less but with $2,000 in her pocket. She plans to give to the Red Cross. She rode in automobiles, motor trucks and army wagons and in airplanes. She expects to return to Seattle by train.

SUGGESTS NEW PLAN TO SPEED THE TREATY

McCumber Says Reservations In "Explanatory" Resolutions Would Lead to Action

the league covenant, the Shantung settlement and others of its provisions, which they have assailed.

It was learned that the President had informed Senator McCumber as well as Senators Hitchcock, Lodge and Nelson of Minnesota, the Republican leaders, that on Saturday, that he was unalterably opposed to any sort of textual modifications, reservations, the use of which might attempt to bring up in the Senate or the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, as the adoption of a single material change in the text of the treaty would require the assent of the twenty-one nations, which have signified their assent to the treaty in official form he submitted it to the Senate.

WILL OVERCOME OPPOSITION.

At the same time it was pointed out to the President by Senator McCumber, Colt and Nelson in a friendly way that they believed that most of the material opposition to the League of Nations, for instance, was permitted to express itself as in the case of the States in their judgment were to be committed to the league's covenant, especially with regard to domestic questions, and asserted effort to bring the early ratification of the treaty would be overcome.

The President was also informed by his senatorial visitors that outand-out opposition to the entry of the United States into the League of Nations would most likely be limited to Senators Borah of Idaho, Sherman of Illinois, Poindexter of Washington, Fall of New Mexico and Johnson of California, Republicans, and Reed of Missouri, Democrat, although there was a possibility, of Senators like Knox of Pennsylvania, Brandegee of Connecticut and McCormick of Illinois "holding out to the last."

The Republican senators who were to see the President today were McNary of Oregon, an uncompromising advocate of the present treaty without amendment or reservation; Kenyon of Iowa, a Progressive Republican, whose independent views were expressed when he recently criticised Old Guard Republicans like Smoot of Utah and Warren of Wyoming because of the reduction of the appropriation for the vocational rehabilitation of maimed American soldiers, which caused the President to veto the sundry civil bill; Capper of Kansas and Kellogg of Minnesota, who are both for the league covenant with the minor interpretations discussed with the President yesterday by McCumber, Colt and Nelson.

Wilson Fearful of Shantung Issue as Menace to Treaty

By JUSTIN McGRATH.
Editorial Correspondent Universal Service.

Washington, July 18.—President Wilson is worried over the Shantung issue. He has good reason to be. It menaces the ratification of the treaty more seriously than any issue heretofore raised. That is admitted generally by supporters of the treaty.

The issue is one of Japan's pledge and Japan's honor.

Flow making of this territory from China who stood loyally by the allies during the war, cannot be justified on the ground that the only excuse offered is that Japan insisted upon it as the price for her policy of remaining in the league.

The Republican majority in the Senate does not believe that price should be paid. They appear to be determined that if necessary the United States shall not be a party to the bargain.

The danger of possible war with Japan does not frighten them. In taking this position they are confident that they have the support of the country's people. This confidence is founded upon the following facts:

1—The German rights in Shantung were acquired by robbery.

2—China, by general consent, regained German rights in China which have reverted to her.

3—The fact that the Japanese ousted the Germans from Shantung gave them no more right or title through conquest than the French or British acquired to the territory of Belgium, from which the Germans were ousted.

4—The action of Japan in torpedoing an ally through military motives to cede her the German rights by treaty was not an action which ought to command the indorsement of the other allies and the United States.

5—The stripping of an ally of its territory to buy the goodwill of a power that seeks to dominate that nation and its people would not only be shockingly violative of the purposes for which the United States went to war, but would be an act of unparalleled infamy.

6—Indorsement of the seizure would be in sad contrast with the previous history of the United States, all of whose wars have been to right wrongs of its own and foreign peoples and never to undo wrongs of others.

The President is said to realize that the opponents of ratification have a moral issue in the Shantung question. Knowing how the people are quickly swayed by moral issues, he is said to be apprehensive that the campaign which the opponents of the treaty expect to wage along this line may endanger ratification.

BULGARS MAKE ASTONISHING DEMANDS

Asks Peace Conference for Parts of Turkey, Greece, Rumania and Serbian Territory

By ROBERT J. PREW,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, July 18.—The Bulgarian peace delegation, headed by Premier Theodoroff, which is now en route to Paris, is bringing the most amazing proposals for territorial aggrandizement yet submitted to the peace conference.

On the principle that the spoils go to the vanquished, Premier Theodoroff coolly proposes that Bulgaria deprive her neighbors of territory, as follows:

From Rumania, part of Dobrudja ceded by Bulgaria under the treaty of 1913 after the second Balkan war.

From Jugo-Slavia, part of Serbian Macedonia.

From Greece, part of Greek Macedonia.

Not content with trying to grab the land of her late enemies, Bulgaria also has designs on her former ally, Turkey, and Premier Theodoroff proposes that part of Turkish Thrace be annexed.

Another loss reported is that of a pearl sautoir, which in fully covered by insurance. Officials of the company carrying the risk have been looking into the loss, said to be in the neighborhood of from $15,000 to $20,000.

LACK MONEY TO TAKE CONVICTS TO ATLANTA

Three in Portland Jail Hear of Concerts and Sports at Federal Prison

Portland, Me., July 18.—Languishing in the county jail, when they might be in the Federal prison at Atlanta, tantalized by reports of happy days enjoyed by convicts in the latter place, three men sentenced to Atlanta from this city are wishing that Uncle Sam would "come across" with transportation for his Federal prisoners.

The men are Harry Parent, Lewiston, sentenced to three years; Napoleon Lachance, Oakland, two and one half years, and John Craig, Lawrence, Mass., two years. They were sentenced in the United States district court in Bangor, and traveled on their way South as far as Portland, where they were lodged in Cumberland county jail to wait for officers to arrive and take them to Atlanta.

They are still waiting. Congress failed to provide funds for the purpose, and there is no sign of any escort for them. Meanwhile Lachance, who has a brother, George, serving four years in the Federal prison at Atlanta, receives glowing accounts of the picture shows, baseball, band concerts and other recreations provided for the convicts. Brother George highly recommends his lodging place, but to Brother Napoleon it's an Ed Dundo, always beckoning but out of reach.

The three prisoners, while awaiting trial in Bangor, attempted to break jail.

Too much Turkish or Just enough Turkish?

IN one way, at least, smoking is exactly like eating.

The more rich and delicious a certain food is, the more care people take to avoid eating too much of it—for instance, plum pudding or candy.

The same rule applies to smoking.

Cigar smokers, for example, are today more careful to avoid too many rich, heavy Havanas. (In fact, more and more cigar smokers now smoke cigarettes too, to help cut down the number of cigars.)

In the same way, cigarette smokers are learning that Turkish tobacco, delicious as it is, is so over-rich or heavy that a man can easily smoke too much of it.

But they are learning also that, instead of cutting down the number of cigarettes per day, they can cut down on the proportion of Turkish in each cigarette.

How to reduce on Turkish

THEY can do this by switching from straight Turkish to part Turkish, or "Turkish blend," cigarettes.

The first Turkish blend cigarette ever made—and the one which has always held first-rank importance—is Fatima.

Fatima contains more Turkish than does any other Turkish blend cigarette.

Perhaps this is the main reason why so many smokers of straight Turkish cigarettes keep switching to Fatimas.

Less worry about "too many"

ANOTHER reason undoubtedly is the fact that Fatimas treat smokers so kindly. The Turkish is so perfectly "balanced" by the other tobaccos in the blend that Fatima smokers never have any worry about smoking "too many."

* * *

AT any rate, whatever the reason may be, Fatima keeps on attracting more and more of those smokers who, if they preferred the fancy, expensive, straight Turkish cigarettes, could easily afford them.

This is shown, of course, by Fatima's record in having won the top notch in sales at so many of the fashionable clubs and hotels and other prominent places all over the country (see below).

How much is "just enough"?

DOES not Fatima's record seem to prove that this is the one cigarette containing just enough Turkish? Not too much nor too little Turkish, but just enough. Make a test for yourself.

BOSTON MILLIONAIRE JOINS "FLORODORA" CHORUS

Philip Bruce of the Back Bay, after many vain attempts, has succeeded in getting a job as chorus man at $25 a week at a Boston playhouse. It is said he spends his salary buying tickets to the show for his friends. He hopes to rise in his new profession.

Found at last—the only millionaire chorus man! And in Boston!

Philip Bruce, scion of a prominent Brookline family, heir to a fortune, is working as one of the "handsome strangers" in the "Florodora" sextet at the Plymouth Theatre for $25 a week, for the sake of art and experience. Although "stage struck" from his youth, Bruce, who has a son in his teens, has never found an opportunity to go on the stage.

He studied vocal culture with Ivan Morawski and started singing with Emil Mollenhauer, the noted conductor, but even with this training theatrical managers refused to consider his applications for solo work solely, not because they questioned his ability, but because they knew he was heir to a fortune.

TRIED TO BREAK IN.

For several years Bruce tried in vain to break a path down to the footlights. He even sold the family estate on Evans road, Brookline, and moved to the Back Bay, that he might be nearer the theatrical district. Failure to get on the stage did not prevent his giving a number of vocal concerts, but this was not his ambition. He wanted the real stage, not the concert stage.

Finally he applied to Manager Carl Hunt of the Plymouth for a job in the chorus. Hunt tried his voice and liked it, and, not knowing that Bruce was a millionaire, hired him as a chorus man at $25 a week. His voice got him into the famous double sextet, as one of the handsome strangers who sing the famous ditty, "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden, Are There Any More at Home Like You?" Many present-day millionairesses have been chorus girls in their youth, but never before has it boasted a millionaire chorus man.

SPENDS SALARY FOR TICKETS.

Bruce is married and resides with his wife and soon in the Back Bay.

He spends his salary buying tickets for the show for his friends.

He was so eager to become a member of the sextet that he not only jumped at a salary of $25 per, but also consented to shave off his mustache, his constant companion for eighteen years. He was extremely reticent about himself, but was willing to talk of his ambitions, which he acknowledged were to land on Broadway in a show—even as a chorus man.

"I am content to start at the bottom of the ladder," he explained, "for that is the real way to win success. Fortunately I don't need to worry about living on my salary. If I have anything in me, as I believe I have, it won't be long before I am promoted out of the chorus. I have always liked the stage, and I'm going to stick to it—if the managers will let me. Lord knows I've tried long enough to get here.

"The only thing which worries me just now is the loss of my mustache."

REPORT OF EPIDEMIC IN CANADA UNTRUE

There is no epidemic at the present time in Canada, which would necessitate taking off any passenger or freight steamers from this port, according to Dr. M. Victor Safford of the City Health Department. Dr. Safford made the statement in connection with the report that the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., would remove its St. John boat because of a small-pox epidemic.

I could not resist getting into the scrap after reading about it," Spence said today. "I want to get back into the uniform of an American soldier again. I am perfectly willing to take my punishment, but I ask that my record of many years in the American army be looked into.

Stocks Weak All the Morning; Steels Lower in New York; Copper Shares Recede in Boston

LARGE DECLINES BY A FEW ISSUES

U. S. Rubber, Mexican Pet., Crucible and Woolen Common Sag the Most

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in the New York from opening until noon. A downward trend was manifested at the start and no rally worth while came during the morning. Shortly before noon, however, the market became a little firmer. Among issues to show largest losses during the forenoon were U. S. Rubber, Mexican Petroleum, Crucible, Woolen and Utah common, American Tobacco, Lorillard, Cuba Cane, Reinhardt, Fisher Products, Republic Steel and United Cigar Stores. At their lowest they had receded from two to more than seven points.

Studebaker, Pittsburgh Coal, Baldwin Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol were strong and fairly active. At their highest they had advanced from fractions to nine points.

Stocks were a weak class. At about noon the selling was easier. U. S. Rubber, Its morning range was from 112¾ to 111¾.

The market was not so active as previously this week. First hour transactions totalled about 400,000 shares.

PRICES LOWER AT OPENING.

Nothing in overnight news or developments made established prices a factor in stocks, but they opened on a lower level and failed to rally during the morning. A few issues were strong. During the morning Stutz Motor showed nine points gain and Studebaker was up more than ten. Low-priced rails developed strength and were active. Among the usual leaders Baldwin advanced almost a point and Car & Foundry ascended nearly two. New Haven began higher, receded until it showed 3 loss and rallied until it was fractionally higher. U. S. Steel receded more than a point during the forenoon. Copper were irregular. Oils ruled higher at the start and drifted off slightly before Standard Oil Petroleum weakened the most.

BEARS MORE CONFIDENT.

The reactionary trend view by the market yesterday generally encouraged bears. They began business this morning with more confidence than is being said about accumulation of stocks by important financial interests and the public is not so voracious a buyer. While the money rate was steady and commanding low yesterday, it is entertained that it may be elevated without warning if the market again manifests increase buying. Some traders think the upward movement is near its peak. Others argue that a reaction in the market is merely responding to technical conditions. It is generally believed that the market is overbought.

RAILS AND COPPERS.

Rails are to more demand, especially low-priced ones. Expectation is strong that they will be permitted to advance rates and reports from Washington indicate that Congress will be more considerate of the interests of carriers than it has been in years. Coppers are in better shape than at any time in months and investors because the metal price is exhibiting steadily and the surplus being consumed.

The decline of foreign exchange rates is receiving close attention. It is discouraging to interests who have expected a great increase in our foreign trade. However, it now appears that European buying will be restricted to absolute necessities until much is done in extending credits.

STEEL TRADE REPORTS AN INCREASED DEMAND

Demand for steel products is increasing, according to trade reports. Recently it has been marked in regard to sheets. But trade buying in mill lines although it is believed that unless orders are placed soon carriers will find it difficult to get deliveries made when needed. The Iron Age says Pittsburgh plants are operating on a larger scale than the Steel Company operating at from 75 to 80 per cent. of capacity, while a large independent plant is operating above 80 per cent. Blast furnaces are resuming. Rolling mills are calling for more pig iron.

The steel ingot output of this country in June is estimated at 2,640,884 gross tons, or 105,635 tons a day. In May it was 2,979,658 tons, compared with 85,024 tons a day in May.

New Field for Investment

Under the banking law amendment which went into effect on Thursday last, Massachusetts savings banks may invest in first mortgage bonds of a Massachusetts gas, electric or water company whose gross earnings total $1,000,000 or more a year and which for three preceding years has earned not less than 4 per cent on its stock.

ELEVATED OFF A POINT AT OPENING

Mining Issues Rule a Little Lower in Morning Trading Here

While the final market tone was firm at the outset and most active issues dated here showed gains when business began the strength was not long retained and recessions were the rule in finish. In fact the New York market trend was reflected here all the morning.

Coppers ceded from the local exchange quite generally. Tennessie was the weakest, but its decline was fractional only. Among curbside issues Keweenaw led in declines. It was off five points at its lowest. In the second hour Gray & Davis was unchanged. Waldorf was a trifle lower. Wolverine showed no change. Packing issues were quiet and mostly down.

Boston Elevated opened with a point decline and extended the loss to three points during the first part of the hour. New Haven began with a fractional decline and added a point to this during Thursday's final figure. Boston & Maine advanced a point during the forenoon. Central was active and a fraction higher.

Cotton Prices at Opening

New York, July 18.—Cotton prices at the opening were: July 34.05; bid, September 34.00; October 33.90; December 33.75; January 34.72; March 34.62; May 34.50.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, July 18.—The subtreasury gained $2,277,000 from the banks on Thursday, making the total net gain since Friday $8,000,000.

Stock exchanges in New York, Boston and other cities will be closed tomorrow to give brokerage houses a chance to catch up with the work made by unprecedented market activity. Never before have Wall Street commission houses been forced to employ three shifts of clerks.

Chile Operating Loss

The operating loss of the Chile Copper Company and the Chile Exploration company for the first 1919 quarter was $74,276, compared with $437,500 for the corresponding period of last year.

Gasoline Stocks Increase

During the first four months of this year gasoline stocks in this country increased more than 219,000,000 gallons, or 5,945,616,176 gallons, during that period the supply of kerosene also increased 56,926,314 gallons to 276,056,857 gallons.

TEXTILE PROFITS WILL MAKE RECORDS

Woolen and Cotton Mills Control Price Situation Throughout the World

The year 1919 will break all textile records, not only for the amount of production, but the prices fabrics will bring. The monetary total of textile production, in fact, will be enormous. It cannot be forecast. There is such a shortage of cloth of all kinds throughout the world that it is not a question of cost alone to the consumer, but a matter of obtaining enough to answer absolute needs.

The bulk of the money spent will come to this country, as the United States furnishes 65 per cent of all the raw cotton consumed in normal times and more than one-half of the world's clothing is made of that material. This country will do a record business this year in manufacturing woolen goods also. The textile industries of Europe are far behind normal capacity, owing to the war.

While the value of textile production in the United States during the year cannot be figured as yet, an idea of what it means in money may be gained from the fact that in the year before the war began the world took $2,712,000,000 worth of raw fibres and made them into fabrics worth $10,554,000,000. There has been a tremendous advance since then not only in the price of raw material but in finished products as well.

In regard to the woolen industry the First National Bank of Boston says in its latest New England letter:

"Nearly all the manufacturers here and in England are sold ahead for six months, and the spinners and topmakers are sold ahead for the balance of the year, so that except at a premium it would be a practical impossibility to get any spinner to make any commitments for delivery this side of December. Meanwhile, the buyers of cloth are urging the manufacturers to name prices for only the first of the year, but the latter are reluctant to commit themselves so far ahead in view of the uncertainties."

In regard to cotton goods it is said: "The mills are able to control the business they will accept, and they are rising to levels of great profits. Finished cotton goods are rapidly reaching the price level reached by the Government, and in many instances are in excess thereof. Both goods and yarns have overstepped Government prices in many cases."

To Build Big Tire Plant

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will expend $3,000,000 building a tire plant at Cumberland, Md., and has filed a certificate at Trenton, N. J., as a preliminary to increasing capital stock from $12,000,000 to $30,000,000.

COPPER PRICE GOES UPWARD STEADILY

The price of copper continues its steady advance. Metal was disposed of yesterday for September and October delivery at 23 cents a pound and one of the largest producers of electrolytic refined an offer of 23¼ for a large block to be shipped in October. Producers are not anxious to commit themselves for last quarter business at current prices. It is said that fourth quarter copper has been sold in the outside market for 23¼ cents.

There is more demand from domestic consumers and metal is being sold for export to Japan, Sweden, France and England.

Abandon Cotton Export Plan

The Southern plan to organize a $100,000,000 corporation to export cotton has been abandoned because the crop will be too small to provide the amount it was hoped to market abroad.

Gold for Export

The latest engagements in New York for gold to be shipped out of this country total $3,140,000, of this amount $2,432,000 is destined for Paris.

Why Save.
By K. C. BOSWORTH, Treasurer,
The National City Bank, Chelsea

There is not a person in this world who can afford not to save. We none of us know what the future holds in store for us, but we can all rest assured that it holds sorrow and bitter regret if we don't save now. There is but one way to save money and that is systematically. Even a small amount set aside as savings each week is better than a large amount saved only now and then. We all wear the chains of habit; we are either the slaves of bad habits that embitter our lives later on, or we are fettered to the habits of good conduct that reward us with health and comfort and with wealth, too, if we have the savings habit. Systematic saving will not only assist us wonderfully in building for the future, but it will put your daily life on a more efficient basis. It will put a check on your extravagances if nothing more. "For he's a jolly good fellow" should be set to slow music and played as a dirge. What we all need is the respect of the world; we can't any one of us get along without it, and if you save your money you can command respect.

Saving means more than having just so much money; it means building character, winning the respect of others and being able to grasp opportunity when it comes. Beyond that it means making a name for yourself. How often it is that we hear it said, "I knew him when he didn't have a nickel in the world," and it means that you've put yourself in a position where that can't be said of you.

There are many times that we go without because we "can't afford it," and yet a little saved each week would soon build up a surplus for just such occasions. Make your saving a Christmas Club, if you like, a vacation club, for your old age, or for any good purpose—but SAVE.

And have you ever really stopped to realize how much more the savings department of a National Bank or Trust Company offers you? The interest rate is high, the withdrawal privileges are decidedly to your advantage, and the service that its extended to you cannot be found elsewhere. The old-fashioned idea of a Bank's being an exalted spot has no place in the savings department system; it is on the job to be of service to you all the time.

RUNAWAY BOY SCARED FROM HIS HOME

Brother Accused of Turning Back Prodigal Son Whom Mother Anxiously Awaits

Grief over the continued absence of her sixteen-year-old son is affecting the health of a mother in Gleasondale. Another son, Joseph, has come to Boston to inaugurate a search for his brother.

The missing youth is Louis Taylor. He ran away from home on June 18 of last year.

The mother's hope never wavered that the boy would return and she looked forward confidently from week to week until recent events occurred which make her fear that he may remain away for years.

WAS SCARED AWAY.

Five weeks ago, the mother has learned, her son was on his way back home and got as far as Gleasondale. When he got there, another brother, John Taylor, it is alleged, told the runaway lad that their mother intended putting him in a reformatory until he was twenty-one years old. This so frightened the boy, says Joseph Taylor, that he left Gleasondale in girl's clothes. Family jealousy is given as the reason for his brother John preventing a reunion.

The family believes that Louis may have gone to the White Mountains and sought employment in a small town. He is undersized, being less than five feet tall, and they believe he would seek employment in a smaller community, where there was less chance of child labor law enforcement being stringent.

KIND WELCOME WAITING.

That the runaway will be given the most kindly welcome home is the assurance of Joseph Taylor. He hopes any person seeing the boy will notify the police of Gleasondale.

The description of the boy furnished by his brother is: Light hair, blue eyes, ruddy cheeks and weight about 120 pounds. He is known to have used the name of Wilbur Brown since he left home.

American's Readers Help Boy Who Lost His Pay

That misfortune some times is only fortune in disguise was proved in the case of Johnnie Mulligan of Dorchester. On the way home from work last Saturday, Johnnie lost his week's pay envelope with seven dollars. That was pretty bad, for Johnnie supports a widowed mother and four younger brothers.

The story was printed in the American. Since its appearance money has been literally showered upon Johnnie until today he has received an amount several times that of his loss.

Harry N. Gilgerman, a lawyer with offices in the Tremont Building, sent a check for seven dollars to the American for young Mulligan. Nearly every mail brings several letters to the box at the wholesale house on Purchase street where he is employed. One of the latest contained a five dollar bill. Several had two dollars enclosed. All of this the boy takes home to his mother and the family at No. 71 Millett street. They will now have what they have long wanted, a reserve fund for emergencies.

LETS COLORED BABY GO FOR WHITE ONE

White Foster Mother, Saddened by Separation, Tells of Strange Drama

New York, July 18.—A drama of life, full of vital interest, was enacted in the office of Dr. Mary Halton, at No. 17 East Thirty-eighth street. The principals were a baby girl with creamily darkening skin, and a foster mother who held her close against an aching heart.

Other ones were taken by a two-week-old orphan baby with the bloom of eyes and white skin and Dr. Hilton, whose self-appointed role is "to make all things end well."

Dr. Halton advertised in a New York newspaper that a home was wanted for an infant girl, two weeks old. The parents died of pneumonia a few days after the child's birth. There were no relatives. Dr. Halton made herself responsible for the little orphan.

When the doctor arrived at her office the following morning, a woman who said she was Mrs. Marion Blake, of Albany, was waiting. The woman was troubled, and told the following story:

CHILD'S SKIN DARKENS.

"I am a widow of comfortable means and live with my mother in Albany. For years I had one servant girl. A year ago she married a soldier, but came back to us when he sailed for France.

"A few days before she gave birth to a child she received word her husband had died in a French hospital. The shock killed her. She died on the night she was born. For a long time I wanted to adopt a child and I love her baby.

"Her baby was smart and plump, redder in new-born infants usually are, and had height, pretty brown eyes. I adopted her legally and had her christened 'Barbara.' The lives of her, my mother and myself were glorified by the advent of the little orphan. Every day found the tiny mite occupying more and more room in our hearts.

"It was when she was three months old that we first noticed that her skin seemed to be growing darker each week. Neither my mother nor myself put our fear into words, however, until the baby was four months old.

"Finally I took her to a hospital for an examination. I had to go home and tell my mother that Barbara was a colored baby.

"But I vowed that I would never part with her. Then I realized with a pang that Barbara would not always be a baby. Each morning I would awake and remember, and each day tell myself it was only a bad dream.

TAKES WHITE CHILD.

"The last month has been one of agony. She is five months old now, and I realize that sooner or later I must give her up. It would eventually bring unhappiness to all concerned and the most unhappiness of all to herself.

"When I read that you had an infant girl for adoption I thought, Perhaps if I had another baby near me, it would be easier to part with hers."

Then into the empty arms of Mrs. Blake the doctor quietly placed the tiny unnamed white child.

Long minutes passed before the "mother" looked at the dainty bundle in her arms. Tears fell silently on the baby's white dress. At last the woman gazed reluctantly upon the face snuggled against her heart, and into the blue eyes of her own race she smiled through her tears.

Dr. Halton is concerned today about Barbara. That the drama may end happily for all, little "Bab," too, must find a home. Dr. Halton said:

"Somewhere in New York there must be good colored people who want her. I want to find a good home for her with her own people."

Czarina Defied Firing Squad, Says Official Death Report

Berlin, July 18.—Proof positive of the murder of the Russian Czarina is said to be contained in a secret official report in the archives at Moscow. The ex-Empress was shot several times. After the first shot she said:

"Mama, it will happen; I am afraid you're right."

At least that she dropped mortally wounded.

The shot was sent seven times. She was then taken to the Ipatieff house in a wooden box and there burned in a stove.

NAVY CREWS DEPLETED BY MANY DISCHARGES

NEW'S LAWYERS ATTACK HIS INDICTMENT

Open Fight to Save Confessed Slayer of Sweetheart From Gallows

By International News Service.

Los Angeles, July 18.—Opening the fight to save Harry S. New, Jr., confessed slayer of his sweetheart, Freda Lesser, from the gallows, a general demurrer to the Grand Jury indictment charging him with first degree murder was entered by New's attorneys when he was arraigned for pleading before Judge Craig in the Superior Court today.

The demurrer attacked the Grand Jury's indictment on the ground that it was not a true bill and that the facts of the case did not warrant the charge. Before New was taken from his cell at the county jail for his appearance in the courtroom Defence Attorneys Lesser Davis and John Richardson announced that his plea would be "not guilty."

It was considered probable that Judge Craig would decide to hear the arguments on the demurrer and dispose of the question before setting the date for New's trial.

The indictment, which was attacked by the defence demurrer, charged that New "wilfully, feloniously and with malice aforethought shot and killed one Freda Lesser."

The local police are now seeking Montello to face a charge of manslaughter. The latter fled to the woods immediately after the affray and four days' search has failed to reveal his whereabouts.

FORD "ANARCHY" EDITORIAL IS INTRODUCED

Ato Man Answering Question Says a Mobile Army Is a Large Army Mobilized

ford and we want him to point out where printed an editorial entitled, 'Ford Is an Anarchist,' but the title does not bear it out," interposed Judge Murphy, one of the attorneys for Ford.

Finally Ford volunteered the information.

"Some one behind the headlines said 'However, I believe the world would be told in the story of it,'" asked Attorney Stevenson.

"Some one behind it then," retorted Ford.

Stevenson again brought up the "literary detective" question when he inquired if he was an "ardent student."

"I do not want me to admit that," said Ford, but I admit I have studied it (the record)."

CHOKES "BRUTALITY."

Verney Lucking, Ford's counsel, objected, and said it was "the easiest thing in the world to get an admission from retiring modest man of Ford type. He followed this with the remark that Stevenson's examination was the "most brutal and inhuman thing I ever heard."

Stevenson replied that "Ford was a forthright witness" and that he was conducting a "very considerate" examination.

As the reading of the editorial the examination swung into the matter of Ford knowledge of military affairs.

"So admitted he knew little about them.

"You know much about the army?" inquired Stevenson.

"No," answered Ford.

"Do you were conducting a huge campaign to educate the people in regard to over-preparedness."

Ford then stated that his campaign was against overpreparedness was for a mere purpose of "taking sides."

ARMS TO "TAKE SIDES."

Texas for the very purpose of securing appropriations for the army that you launched that campaign?" Stevenson said.

"No it was not," Ford answered.

Ford said yesterday," Stevenson charged.

"All I have said so many things; how can I did that merely to take sides Ford replied.

SAYS REPORT IS GARBLED.

Previously, Ford had been questioned at length concerning the report submitted to the House committee on Military Affairs in 1916, day.

Said He Would Like to Kill Wilson; Is Arrested

New Brunswick, N. J., July 18.—Charged with expressing a desire to kill President Wilson, Joseph Hincze, 29, a Hungarian, was arraigned before Recorder John Watson and held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury.

On a train from New York to New Brunswick it is alleged he told a fellow passenger that the president had no right to go to France and "desert the people," and that if no could get close enough to him he would kill him adding that he would like to dynamite all government buildings.

dealing with the subject of coal defenses which the defence charges was published and distorted in a pamphlet "Humanity and Sanity," which was put out by Ford. The defence is trying to show the irresponsibility of Ford relative to military matters when he spread his anti-preparedness propaganda broadcast. Ford testified the pamphlet was written by Theodore de Lavigne, his publicity man. "You didn't Mr. de Lavigne put that in his report?" Stevenson would ask, after reading some provision about the coast defences.

"I told Delavigne to get the facts and print them," Ford replied.

"Do you want the world to understand that you put out this vast educational campaign and you didn't know what was given out?" Stevenson asked.

"Well, if that's all you know about it, I won't proceed further," Stevenson said.

"I don't understand your question," Ford said. "I thought things were going on true."

"Are you charging Mr. Delavigne with being dishonest?" Stevenson asked.

"No," said the witness.

"Then why did he leave out some of General Weaver's testimony?"

"I don't know," Ford replied.

"What do you know about a mobile army?" was the next question.

"It's a large army mobilized," answered Ford.

"Well, if that's all you know about it, I won't proceed further," Stevenson said.

STRIKE OF 200 MAY CRIPPLE BIG MILLS

Lawrence, July 18.—Every mill in Lawrence, with the exception of the Ayers, is affected by a strike of dressers, washer tenders and percentors, who presented demands to the mill heads for a straight increase in wages of 25 per cent, recognition of the union, shop committees and posting of schedules.

When the mill heads refused to grant the demands the strike resulted.

While less than 200 are said to be on the strike, it is feared that inside of a week the mills will be compelled to close down, as the strikers are employed in many departments in connection with the operation of the machines. The American Woolen Company Mills are the largest.

The fact that the Amalgamated Workers of America, the new organization formed as a result of the big strike which began last February, openly take a hand in the situation gives it a more serious aspect in the hearing upon the other mill departments which have not yet been affected.

Some of the officers of the Amalgamated Workers stated today that the strikers were not affiliated with their unions, but they would assist the strikers in any way they could.

BUILD TO DODGE HIGHER RENTS, SAYS MARTIN

"Go ahead and build," advised John J. Martin, president of the Exchange Trust Company in an address before the members of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange.

"There is no reason in postponing construction because you may expect a decrease in the prices of materials and labor. There is small likelihood of any decrease," he continued. "If the contractor is the opinion that those who would know that labor and material will go up.

Building construction at this time constitutes a menace to the community, particularly to the non-payer. We are facing in the near future the fact that thousands of summer vacationers will be on abnormal demands for housing.

Unless there is something wrong, and I mean that there is, there will be a veritable home panic. I cannot too much emphasize upon that position, although while doing it, I feel that some will be as a voice in the wilderness. It is unfortunate the public to be imbedding of adult people who have not yet been affected.

People have given up the summer resorts, there will be such a demand for homes that some will bid against the other and the most ecstatic will be the accepted tenant. Avoid the tempting offers that mushroom

MOORE IS ROBBED OF VERDICT

Yankee Boxer Has Better of Wilde in London Title Bout

London, July 18.—Jimmy Wilde, the British flyweight champion, won a decision against Pal Moore, the American bantam, on points in their fifteen-round bout at Olympia.

General Pershing, the Prince of Wales, Prince Albert and 20,000 others less notable saw the American bantam hammer the pride of Britain for twenty rounds.

Referee Corri's decision was fair from popular with the American contingent at the ringside and Moore were a book of utter amazement. There was no demonstration from the Englishman.

In the first round Wilde was aggressive and sent in a shower of short jabs but Moore avoided danger and came back in the second smiling and confident and rushed Wilde all over the ring. From then on Moore was the command of the situation. In the fourteenth round he drove an uppercut from Wilde's mouth with a hard left hook.

In the last eight rounds Moore seemed to be at a loss finding a knockout but Wilde used all the defensive skill in his repertoire and managed to last to the end. Moore landed several hard swings in the last minute of fighting.

SHIPPING BOARD NINE PLAYS RECEIVING SHIP

A service baseball game of more than usual interest will be played at Braves Field Sunday afternoon, when the Receiving ship at Hingham and will play the U. S. S. Shipping Board team. Besides the interest in the game be the U. S. S. Shipping Board band of thirty pieces, but quite out is expected.

The Receiving ship also played Camp Devens at Braves Field last Sunday afternoon, the sailors winning. The Shipping Board is challenged by the Receiving Ship and that challenge will be promptly accepted. Game is called at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

VIRGINIA SAILED TO VICTORY AT DUXBURY

The first Indian race of the season of the Duxbury Yacht club was sailed in a light breeze and was tell at times. The light winds kept the fast sailing boats up over the eight-mile course in Duxbury bay, and no fast times were turned in.

In the knockabout class Miss Margaret Winslow of Boston piloted the Virginia across the finish line first, while the Wenric with Miss Elizabeth Phillips at the helm was second. Miss Phillips took the honors in the race for yatbird boats. Miss Ellen Maxwell of Brookline sailed Wild Wind at the head of the procession in the Bayliel class.

Currie Wins Decision

Lowell, July 18.—Jim Currie of New Haven won the decision over Phil Logan of Philadelphia in twelve rounds at the Crescent A. C. Young Goulet of Lawrence and Happy Conley of Lowell were in the semi-final. The preliminaries resulted in a win for Young Ireland of Lawrence in four seconds and Jack Lynch of Lowell defeated Johnny Reed of Lowell in three rounds.

BOXING NOTES

Johnny Wilson, Charlestown middleweight, will not lack supporters when he goes to the Lenox A. C. in South Boston in a twelve-round bout at the Lawrence hall next week. Wednesday afternoon Members of the Morning Glories will make the trip over the road in the guise of the old days with a flock of auto trucks which will leave City square, Charlestown, at 1 p. m. sharp.

Wilson's admirers believe he will win. They point to the fact that his punch will feel more at ingbiting home against Johnny Kilroy and George Robinson. Some of the boxers with his right hand expended which is sure to puzzle Ahearn.

Over at the D street gymnasium, South Boston, Ahearn today ended his training by engaging in a light workout with Joe Daley and Johnny Donovan. Ahearn's detailing work in the ring during the past three months has caused him to become the most feared 130-pound glove wielder in the country.

A large party of Ahearn's South Boston admirers will go to Lawrence to see the fight. Billy Lawless, who is promoting the show, anticipates a record turnout of fans.

Dan McCormack, according to Jim McDonald, is not a star to meeting Young Kilroy provided that worthy will make any reasonable weight for the match.

The Fenway A. A. will play to another capacity house when Johnny Dundee opposes Joe Tipitis in a twelve-round encounter next Monday night. Roy Green is giving the fans high class attractions. Tipitis proved his ability when he stopped Jack Chaney in three rounds in Memphis last Monday night.

ROW TO SETTLE LYNN TITLE SATURDAY

The West Lynn Boat Club and the Farragut Boat Club will battle for the right to take part in the national regatta when they clash in a mile and a half race over the Lynn-Nahant course tomorrow afternoon.

The rival oarsmen will also compete for the Bennet cup. The Farragut Club is holding the long end on this trophy as a result of its victory over West Lynn last year.

It is for the honor of representing Lynn in the National regatta that the two crews are displaying the most interest. The followers of each crew are confident and there is considerable speculation on the result of the big test Saturday.

The betting element favors Farragut to win. The West Lynn crew, however, will have a weight advantage which the supporters of the latter feel it will smash its way to victory.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon the rivals will get away from the United States Life Saving station at Nahant. The finish will be at a point opposite the Metropolitan Bath house on the Lynn beach.

The Bennet cup officials, who will have charge of the race, follow: James Fox, referee and starter; Charles F. Curry and William Rogers, judges at the finish; Charles Bertram of the Farragut Boat Club and James F. Fynn of the Lynn Boat Club, assistant judges.

CORBETT'S COLUMN

Horsemen are still laughing over the trick that R. L. Bressler put over on the "bookies"—a stunt that enabled him to make a $260,000 "killing" with one race horse and a 10-cent can of paint.

Bressler owns a filly named Ina Wood, which showed great promise early in the year, but was the sort of horse that needed plenty of work to "tune" her up. She ran a few races with varying success in the South and then was shipped to the New York tracks.

Soon after her arrival Ina Wood began to find herself, and in morning workouts early in June continued to improve. Bressler knew that another week or two of training would fit her for a race, and he knew that every mile of Ina was weighed closely by the clockers and the bookies, who rub the movements of every contender.

Bressler, realizing that if the bookies learned how sensationally Ina Wood was working out, they would probably make her a favorite in her next start.

And Bressler didn't want the horse to be made favorite, he yearned for juicy odds. So one day a report was permitted to circulate that Ina would stay in the barn for a while, and from then on the clockers saw no more of the filly with the blazed face and white hind foot and heel—marking peculiar to Ina Wood.

CAMOUFLAGED RACE HORSE.

All they saw for some days afterward was a strange steed from the Bressler stable working in sensational trials. They relied to learn the name of the filly which had worked in half in 47—and traveling easily. But Bressler was not unconscious, as were his stable connections.

A short time later Ina Wood's name appeared in the entries. The "bookies" paid little attention to her. They quoted big odds against her chances for "a horse that has been hanging around in a barn for a week isn't a horse that can win."

Ina Wood won the race comfortably ran away with it. Bressler and his pal who were "in on the know" nearly went to open pool room keepers into bankruptcy by the coup.

Yes, you've guessed it. Bressler painted out the blaze on the face and the white hind marklings and the strange filly of the great morning workouts was none other than the camouflaged Ina Wood—painted to prevent the clockers from discovering her identity.

HILDRETH'S STAR "LEMON."

Purchase, the "mystery horse of 1918" has come through. And Sam Hildreth, termed "a boob" who gambled $13,500 on this erratic performer of a year ago, is the happiest individual in turfdom.

The big chestnut son of tremendous power, a world-beating animal as a two-year-old—although was beat once. He showed marvelous speed in his morning workouts but on race days always acted like a scrub horse at the post and wouldn't try to win.

At last his owners disgusted, put him on the auction block. Sam Hildreth came along with a $12,500 bid and the auctioneer yelled "Sold!"

"Hildreth bought a false alarm," the turf sharps said.

For the balance of 1918 it seemed that way. Purchase did nothing remarkable—nothing but a trifle beyond the mediocre. He whirred well and was named for several of the big spring races. But Hildreth couldn't turn him loose until along in May.

And ever since Purchase has dazzled all the experts, speed of which Hildreth figured him capable. And Purchase in purses alone has won more than $12,500 that Hildreth paid for him.

WON OVER SIR BARTON.

The crowning feat was the defeat of the mighty Sir Barton in the Fuxzey Stakes at Aqueduct. The Rose colt had won the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, the Belmont and the Withers stakes in succession and probably would have captured the "unbeatable" in the three-cornered race, but Hildreth had a different idea.

"Purchase goes against Sir Barton in the Dwyer and Purchase will win," he said.

The race with Sir Barton an odds-on favorite, was run in a sloppy track—a condition that exactly suited Sir Barton. The Rose colt had Johnny Loftus, ranked as American premier pilot, aboard.

And Sir Barton had all the best of it on the barrier's rise, broke running and quickly jumped three or four lengths to the front—a position that he favors.

But Purchase beat the wonderful Rose horse—and did it easily.

LEAGUE INSISTS ON RIGHT TO DRAFT

National Will Not Recognize Agreement Abrogating Privilege of Drawing Men

New York, July 18.—The National League has refused to recognize any agreement abrogating its right to draft players from the minor baseball leagues and issued a formal statement that it would insist upon the rights of the major leagues to the draft.

The statement follows:

"A communication from a committee of the minor leagues was received and discussed, and it was unanimously resolved not to enter into any formal agreement with the minor leagues unless the right of the major leagues to draft players from the minor leagues was included so as to enable ball players to advance in their profession, as provided by the present national agreement.

"The action at the National League meeting followed a declaration of independence by the minor leaguers at a meeting in Chicago recently, when the draft rule was declared abrogated.

The National League voted its approval of the recommendation of the National Commission that in future world's series 75 per cent. of the receipts would be assigned to the baseball players of the two contesting teams, the remaining 25 per cent. to be divided among players of clubs finishing second and third in the two leagues.

The magnates voted that hereafter exhibition games will be abolished in the National League. It was not stated whether this ruling would prevent the exhibition scheduled between the Boston and Philadelphia clubs at Syracuse.

The proposition of extending the schedule from 140 to 154 games was discussed, but no action taken.

C. A. C. Routs Held Up on Account of Strike

The bouts scheduled at the Community club tonight have been called off owing to the car strike. Match maker McKirdy thought it best to hold the bouts up as many of the members come from out of town and with a record advance sale, many would be forced to stay away.

In the event of a settlement of the strike situation the bouts will be held next Tuesday evening.

MADONNA GIVES BIG HANDICAP TO RIVALS

Italian Flier Races Bowker, Herbert and Walthour in 35-Mile Paced Event

Vincent Madonna, the Italian modest champion, has taken some contract on his hands for tomorrow night at the Revere cycle track in a handicap race with Walthour, Bowker and Herbert lined up against him, with five, six and seven laps respectively, to their credit.

Madonna is fairly flying, but to beat out such a field under the handicap conditions inside the 35-mile limit seems a task almost impossible. The Providence boy is confident, however, and further declares that he will try and do all his remaining races at the Beach oval.

The new Providence track is come, what of a jinx for Madonna while the same holds good for Carman at the local saucer and if the schedules can be arranged this pair may meet in a series of matches at the two tracks although a two-min match is at present out of the question as mishaps have been too frequent this season.

In addition to the motor paced race Pat Logan and Harold MacFarland will meet Tom Sullivan and John Fardig in a tandem team match.

The regular list of amateur and professional events will complete the program.

CHAMPIONS FAIL TO SCORE ON MORTON

Cleveland, July 18—Stanley Morton showed Cleveland fans in general and the Boston Red Sox players in particular something to cheer about this afternoon when he blanked the Indians in a repertoire, scroll, two of Boston's Hereto fore Morton has been known as a speed ball pitcher. He is not a wonderful fast ball that has a zip to it when he brings his foot down with his pitch. He had his troubles bringing his foot down with his to this season but he mastered that art on the Sprague hitting trip.

SOX HITS SEMI FLUKY.

Morton allowed but five hits, two of them of the very lucky kind. Speaker's drive to Pratt was a double by Hooper and Ruth's single coming in the first inning. Lamar's single, a slow bounder to Pratt, man, in the fourth, Hooper's pounding single over second in the ninth and Jamieson's double against the wall in the seventh.

He issued two walks to Vitt in the second and to Lamar in the ninth.

He didn't register a single strikeout but didn't have to for he had the Red Sox hitting pop flies and easy grounders. The Indians didn't hit more than three or four difficult fielding chances. Morton missed his own one with his pitching but just a wall in the eighth put him and he had Ruth, Mclnnis and Pratt unable to break up his pitching to retire. Their only hit was a scratch single by Jamieson that gave him no chance for such a perfect show offering.

BABE GOOD AND BAD.

As for Babe Ruth who opposed Morton on the firing line, well, he was good in spots and bad in others. He was found for nine hits and dished out five passes. Like Morton, he did not strike out a batter. Rule didn't agree with Umpire Dick Nallin on balls and strikes half the time and chances are that mental disagreements brought about his undoing. For he was seen to shake his head and burn up inside on several occasions.

The Indians first run came in the second on Wood's single, Gardner's sacrifice, Walker's infield out and Johnston's single. Two more came in the third on a pass to Wood and Speaker's double. Walker's infield fly out on which Wood reached 3d, Johnston's scratch single to left and Pratt's out, which filled the bases and Morton's scratch single, both of which the latter did by leaving Ruth's fast one in over the plate. Morton got a run on Mclnnis' single, Gardner's fly to Speaker, and Walker's single gave the Indians their second number four in the fourth.

LAWYERS RUSH TO PUSH IRISH FUND 'OVER'

Appeal to Bench and Bar Not of Gaelic Descent for Aid in Drive

The Bench and Bar committee of the Irish Victory Fund, of which James A. Dorsey is chairman, is redoubling its efforts this week to put the fund for the freedom "over the top" at a regular meeting to be held out to judges and attorneys not of Irish birth or descent inviting them to cooperate with the committee in attaining freedom for Ireland.

"The committee is confident that an appeal for financial aid in the cause of Ireland will come with special force and significance from members of the bar," Chairman Dorsey said today.

"The Irish Bar has been conspicuous the world over for the eloquence and attainments of its members," Chairman Dorsey said. "The names of Edmund Burke and Henry Grattan, whose eloquence was often raised in the cause of America and the struggling colonists, and John Philpot Curran, Daniel O'Connell and Sir Charles Russell, late Lord Chief Justice of England, are names to conjure with among members of the profession they are equally adorned in their day and generation.

"The committee is hopeful that such an appeal to lawyers, irrespective of race or descent, but lovers of liberty, will not fall on deaf ears, but that they will answer, as many of them have already done, with a willing and generous response."

FLEET ATHLETES GET HONORS AT MORSE PICNIC

It Was a Day of Thrilling Events, Not Forgetting the Fat Men's Race

Members of the Leopold Morse Mutual Benefit Association and their families to the number of more than 200 forgot business yesterday for a time at least and enjoyed an old-fashioned picnic and outing at Normbumpga Park, Auburndale. The storekeeping had planned to leave Boston in special cars of the Elevated but, due to the strike, their plans had to be changed. Instead they went to Riverside by train and from there marched to the park, behind Iver's band.

During the afternoon a series of athletic sports was conducted, lunch was served in the park restaurant in the late afternoon and in the evening the pioneers "broke into the dance hall and the performance of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" in the open-air theatre.

The "piece de resistance" of the afternoon sports was a 50-yard dash between S. R. Casey, retail store manager, and Ernest Goodson, advertising manager. Mr. Casey won the honors, but Mr. Goodson, not to be outdone, entered the fat men's race and came home an easy victor.

Other events:

Girls' candle race—Won by Alice Donnelly; R. Milensky, second.

50-yard dash—Won by Lena Coleman; Frances Houlihan, second.

Shot put—Won by T. J. Brady; Leon Strauss, second.

Relay race—Won by single men. Team: T. J. Brady, Joseph Ward, James Griffiths, Henry Woosty and Hugh Milan.

High jump—Won by Hugh Milan.

The members of the firm enjoyed the outing as much as any of the employees. Among those present were Ferdinand Strauss, president; Julius C. Morse, vice-president, and Leon Strauss, treasurer. The committee in charge of the affair comprised T. J. Brady, chairman; Miss Alice Donnelly, secretary and treasurer; C. S. Casey, Fred D. Donovan, Jack Cranney, Wm. Murray, Hugh Milan, Joseph Bennett and George L. O'Brien.

OUTING TOMORROW BY SHEPARD EMPLOYES

An outing, clambake, concert, games and dancing at Nantasket Beach tomorrow is expected to attract 2000 members of the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association of the Shepard Norwell Co. Special boats will leave the company's wharf at Lincoln street at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tickets, which will entitle the holder to all privileges, will be put on sale tomorrow morning at the wharf. A special ball has been engaged. The committees in charge of the outing comprise the following: Clambake and refreshments, Alice Sullivan, Mary Sheehan and Mary Hurley; games, Thomas Hurley, Joseph Sullivan and George Lee; dancing, Mary Sullivan and Mary Hurley; concert, Mary Sullivan and Mary Hurley; transportation, Joseph Sullivan and Thomas Hurley.

SAYS ALIEN SLACKERS STIR LABOR TROUBLES

Worcester, July 18.—The Worcester Chamber of Commerce, in a statement reviewing recent labor troubles in the city, charges alien agitators with responsibility for these industrial disturbances, due to selecting for husbands those she did so matching

Here they are—the very newest thing in American boot tops.

Their names are Tweedie and Pattee, and the shapely feet on which they are displayed belong to Miss Mae Golden. You may have seen the models at the Boston Shoe Style Show, where they bore away some of the honors.

The Tweedie boot top is an original pattern of an American-made spat. It has all the effect of the spat, but has the advantage that it will not pull up at either front or back, but shows a glove-fitting smoothness that sets off a slim ankle with marked effect. It comes in eight or nine-inch height, with fifteen buttons.

The Pattee is a combination button and lace shoe, also in gaiter effect. It is twelve inches high and has sixteen buttons, lacing in front from the ankle up. It comes in the new shades of bisque, tans and Canada grays.

Both styles are slated to be extremely popular this Fall.

LOVE SUPERIOR TO ALL ELSE, SAYS ELOPER

New York Woman Who Ran Off With Another's Husband Awaits Two Decrees

San Francisco, Cal., July 18.—Love is superior to conventionality and is cheap at the cost of all else, and conscience is the tiny weight which tips the scales wrong to right according to the philosophy of Mrs. Violet S. Deegan, a handsome New York woman, whose husband has sued her for divorce and has brought the question of affections action against Albert W. Crouch, also of New York.

A woman should not be condemned as a criminal before the law because she leaves home which is absolutely repugnant to her—even though she chooses the unconventional path to her quest for happiness, Mrs. Deegan said.

"Unconventionality does not of necessity or inevitably mean wrong. It is her will deciding for the right of 'criminal conversation' which her husband has brought against the man who resides in the home she purchased with money realized from the sale of wedding gifts received by her a decade ago.

BOTH AWAITING DIVORCE.

In that house Mrs. Violet Deegan or Mrs. Violet S. Crouch, as she prefers to be called, has settled to bide the time when she may take advantage of the California laws which will give her her freedom from Wilson F. Deegan, architect and builder of New York.

In the same house waiting until he is released from the marital bonds linking him to Mrs. Jean F. Crouch of Yonkers, N. Y., is Albert W. Crouch, naval architect of New York. Word was received here last night that Deegan and Mrs. Crouch had received permission to marry from Supreme Court Justice McAvoy in New York in cases in which separate suits for divorce actions instituted against Mrs. Deegan and Crouch.

Mrs. Deegan has admitted that Crouch and Mrs. Deegan eloped in 1918 and went to New Orleans, where they lived under their own names, posing to neighbors as brother and sister. Later it is alleged this went to Oakland, Calif., where they lived as Mr. and Mrs. Crouch, although Crouch says he was then residing in Yonkers, N. Y.

TOLD HUSBAND OF HIS LOVE.

Crouch asserted his love for Mrs. Deegan in December, 1917, according to an affidavit submitted by Major Deegan.

The latter claims in his affidavit that Crouch informed him frankly that he was "desperately in love" with Mrs. Deegan, but he did not believe he had any claim for her husband and that if he, Crouch, and Mrs. Deegan were allowed to be married the husband would not contest a divorce.

Mrs. Crouch secured a separation from her husband in January, 1918, alleging cruelty, but the husband has since denied the charges and declared in her affidavit.

Years and letters alternately faded and fanned the beautiful face of Mrs. Deegan as she dismissed her tangled matrimonial tangle.

"I am through with my past life and my family, and am provided for," she declared. "I am not the kind of woman to leave behind me a trail of heartbreak and misery. I am not going to leave it for it seems better to leave.

"I have no regrets. I claim for myself decent treatment by those who have claimed against me. I am not a criminal, and should not be classed as one by the courts. They will see that in time."

C LAIRVOYANT'S NEPHEW MADE CONSERVATOR

No Objection Offered by Colored Choroman of Aged Mrs. Collamore

Forrest W. Dixon of No. 7 Bacon Vista street, North Cambridge, was today appointed conservator of the estate of his aunt, Mrs. Lucinda J. Collamore, an aged clairvoyant, of No. 11 Buena Vista street, by Judge Lawton in the Middlesex Probate Court at East Cambridge. Dixon furnished $15,000 bonds. On the court records the total estate is valued by Mrs. Collamore is appraised at $7,000 and personal property $10,000.

The threatened opposition to the appointment of Dixon by Mrs. Collamore's colored choroman, Daniel A. Watts of No. 121 Walden street, North Cambridge, did not materialize today. Watts had worked for Mrs. Collamore many years but came to be looked upon as a sort of companion, and is alleged to have received money gifts.

It had been hinted that Mrs. Collamore, who is seventy-six, opposed the selection of her nephew on the ground that she was able to care for herself and her property, but she contradicted such claims by supplementing her nephew's petition with one signed by herself and by going into court today to tell Judge Lawton that she wanted Mr. Dixon appointed conservator of her property.

Dr. Charles O. Thompson and Dr. H. H. Cushman of Boston and Dr. Lewis L. Bryant of Cambridge, testified that Mrs. Collamore was physically and mentally incapable of caring for her property, although she knew what she wanted.

Judge Lawton said: "She has mind enough to change her mind perhaps" and then asked the aged woman if she agreed to have her nephew act as her conservator and she replied, "I do. He is an honest and trustworthy man." Attorney Isador Fox appeared for the law firm of Lewis, Fox & Andrew, which had entered appearance as counsel for Mrs. Collamore, and were said to be representing the interests also of Watts.

Mrs. Collamore stated that her lawyers were Lewis, Fox, Edward T. Stone and Irving S. Carpenter of Boston, and they represented her today.

APPEALS SENTENCE IN NON-SUPPORT CASE

Fred P. Conley of Everett avenue was sentenced to serve four months for non-support by Judge Churchill in Dorchester court today. He appealed. His wife said they were married in Georgia and that he left her after seven days. He gave her a wedding gift of 14c and that ended his financial dealings with her, she said.

Herman Starr of No. 16 Richfield street, Dorchester, on keeping gambling hens in spite of the protests of neighbors and without authority of the board of health, Fine $15.

Hart De Chicco of Grover street, Malden, driver for automobile too briskly in Columbia Road and was fined $5. His brother, Anthony, appeared for him, saying that Hart was too busy to come to court.

William Haggerty of Woodcliff street, Roxbury, watchman at Grant's garage, Washington street, was given four months for appropriating an automobile on the night before prohibition went into effect. He appealed.

SALEM MAN ACCUSED OF THEFT AND NON-SUPPORT

Arcadia, R. I., isn't like the Arcadia of which poets chant, in the opinion of Judge W. W. Reed, who was brought back from the Rhode Island town to answer to four charges in the Salem court. He was charged with robbing gas meters to the extent of $165, while employed by the payroll of the Salem Gas Company, for which he formerly worked, to the extent of $28, and with non-support of his wife, who lives in Peabody. He pleaded not guilty to the larceny charges and will be tried on them in Salem July 26. He was held in the non-support charge in Peabody tomorrow.

QUINCY CARPENTER DIES IN 2 STORY FALL

John Wickland, forty-five, employed by Fred Hadley, a carpenter and builder of No. 17 California avenue, Quincy, was instantly killed when he fell from a window in the second story of the Bailey shop. He lost his balance while attempting to open the window so that his employer might pass up a load of boards which were to be stored in the loft.

Medical Examiner Jones viewed the body and pronounced death due to a broken neck. Wickland lived with his wife and four children at No. 10 Crain avenue.

200 STRIKERS DROPPED AFTER REFUSING RAISE

Palmer, July 18.—When 200 striking workmen refused to accept a 10 per cent. raise in wages offered by the Weight Wire Company last night the plant was shut down. Later the men were all paid off and striking from the company payroll and their places will be filled by other persons. Two hundred and fifty of the plant's employees were out on strike and of this number 268 accepted the increase.

Marlboro Strike Off

Marlboro, July 18.—The strike of the employes of the highway department was settled at a special meeting of the board of aldermen last night. The men will receive 40c an hour instead of 35c, the increase asked for.

R EVEAL SERIES OF WOLLASTON BURGLARIES

Stolen Auto Recovered by the Police; Several Stores Entered

A series of burglaries in the Wollaston district of Quincy was made public today with the discovery by the police of an automobile stolen from the garage of Charles O. Pratt, No. 771 Hancock street. The theft occurred on Wednesday night and is believed to have been the work of one gang.

In addition to the Pratt garage the Flatter drug store, which is also a branch postoffice, at the corner of Hancock and Beal streets, was entered. Several safety razors and a quantity of sundries were stolen. The thieves also broke open the cash register, but there was only a few cents in change there at the time.

Apparently bungler attacks the burglars during their operations, for they next broke into the Wollaston bakery No. 1 on Beal street and took a quantity of pies, cakes and buns.

The dry goods store conducted by Mrs. Verne Fowler at No. 757 Hancock street was robbed on this night, but only a few articles of small value were taken. Pennies left in the cash drawer were stolen. It is believed that the thieves became frightened while on this job and did not stop to take away costlier articles.

The stolen automobile was found in a dump of lumber near the Avon Oaks Inn at East Braintree. Captain Alfred Goodhue of the Quincy police is working on a clew.

Bay State Postmasters

Washington, July 18.—The following Massachusetts postmasters were nominated today: New Bedford, George L. Oliver; North Adams, Michael O'Haggerty.

FREE VACATIONS FOR FITCHBURG CRIPPLES

Fitchburg, July 18.—At least three Fitchburg children will be given free vacations at a beautiful camp in Lenox if they accept an offer made by Dr. L. F. Baker, superintendent of the Burbank Hospital. Dr. Baker has noted that two or three Fitchburg boys who are deformed and who are not in such circumstances that they can take a vacation refuse to do so. He will make arrangements for these boys to spend the rest of the Summer in the Berkshires.

Blonde Girls and One-Armed Soldiers

A Few Claims That Are Made Against One and in Favor of the Other

Copyright, 1919, Star Company.

Investigation sometimes develops strange things.

We shall speak of two recent examples in the reverse order of their importance.

An electrical manufacturing concern in Chicago, advertising for girls to operate machines in their factory, announced "only brunettes need apply."

A wide-awake city editor wanted to know "WHY?"

The manager said that he had had a lot of experience with girls and found that "a blonde-haired girl doesn't seem satisfied unless she is moving around all the time. I believe blondes are fickle by nature."

Very valuable to know, if it is true. Probably not true.

There has always been a good deal of friction between blondes and brunettes. Men have usually been to blame. They almost always are when there is any trouble between women.

It has never been demonstrated that the color of the hair has anything to do with the efficiency of the individual.

The fair-haired races of the world, where even brown hair is rare, are quite as efficient as those nations where, as in Spain, seventy-five per cent. are brunettes.

As a matter of fact there was a time when the whole human race was blond to the extent of being red-haired, for primeval man, man just growing from the ape into the human, was clad all over with a coat of red fur.

The orang-outang, the highest of the ape species living today, and which has hair like a human being and not wool, is almost without exception red-haired.

The color of the hair varies most in those races where the hair is wavy. Among those peoples with woolly head covering it is almost invariably black. Among the straight-haired races, like the Indians and the Orientals, it is never light colored. The discovery of a blonde race of Esquimaux was looked upon as extraordinary.

The real thing that determines a young woman's worth in any of life's endeavors is not what color of hair she has on the outside of her skull, but the kind of brain she has inside it.

Never mind whether you are blonde or brunette.

If you are in earnest about your work, if you are bound to make good, if you are hunting success and determined to find it, the color of your hair will not make the slightest difference to you or to anybody else.

The second and more important result of investigation is that a one-armed soldier makes the very best kind of an elevator operator.

This was determined by a man who not long ago settled a claim for damages when a passenger was injured because the elevator was started before the door was closed.

A one-armed soldier applied for a job and the man, after thinking about it, decided that the man would HAVE to close the elevator door before he started up or down, because, having only one hand, he would have to finish one thing before he could begin another.

It worked out just as he thought it would and the soldier kept the job.

This is a valuable lesson.

There are a good many places where men crippled in the war will find work to which they are admirably fitted.

The vocational education of maimed soldiers is one of the great obligations of the government, and the furnishing of work to the returning fighters is one of the prime duties of employers.

Have a Buttermilk Cocktail

It Will Be Better for You Than the Other Kind

Copyright, 1919, Star Company.

If you are sorrowing that you have had to give up your Bronx, or Manhattan, or Clover Leaf, which you mistakenly thought gave you an appetite, listen to this glad news:

Buttermilk will do what you expected the alcoholic drink to do.

It will actually sharpen your appetite and increase the enjoyment of your food.

This discovery, announced by the American Chemical Society, results from an actual observation of a totally unprejudiced consumer.

A prominent raiser of pork products found that when he fed his pigs buttermilk their appetite was so much better and their assimilation of food so much improved that he could count during the fattening season on a pound a week gain for those pigs with buttermilk over those without.

Being a wise man, he investigated the cause and found that it was the lactic acid which accounted for the benefits he observed.

There are many similarities, besides that of disposition, between the pig and the man.

The digestive fluids in the stomach of each are identical. Many a dyspeptic has digested his food with pepsin which came from a pig.

It is therefore true that if buttermilk makes a good appetizer for a porker, it will serve an equal purpose for a human being.

If you must have it disguised, there are many harmless methods of camouflage. You can even have it tumbled about in a shaker, with a little ice to add a merry sound.

The advantage of the buttermilk is that it will do what it pretends to do and leave no bad effects.

Try a buttermilk cocktail.

Might Extend Tour

The dispatches say that Mr. Wilson will almost immediately start upon a speaking tour, in which he will explain that the provisions of the treaty contain the Fourteen Points and make safe the rights of weak people all over the world.

May we not suggest—modestly, of course—that Mr. Wilson include China, Ireland, India, Persia, Egypt, South Africa and several minor seaports in his itinerary?

He would undoubtedly be greeted by large, if somewhat unkempt, audiences—particularly in Ireland.

WE STOPPED at a store.
ON THE way to the train.
THAT WE had to catch.
TO GET into the city.
ON ACCOUNT of the "L" strike.
AND CAME out of the store.
AND GOT in our car.
AND JUST at that moment.
THERE CAME along a lady.
WHOM WE didn't know very well.
AND AS soon as she saw us.
SHE CAME over to the car.
AND SAID wasn't it warm.
AND WE said it was.
AND ASKED about her mother.
AND SHE said she was well.
AND BY that time.
SHE HAD her hands on the door.
AND WE couldn't start the car.
AND THEN we asked her.
IF SHE was going toward the depot.
AND SHE said she wasn't.
THAT SHE was waiting for her husband.
AND HED proposed to meet her.
AT THE drug store corner.
BUT SHE was very sure.
HE WAS going to be late.
BECAUSE HE always was.
AND BY that time.
SHE WAS leaning on the door.
AND IF we had started.
WE WOULD have dragged her over.
AND WE were getting nervous.
ABOUT CATCHING the train.
AND NOT knowing her well.
WE DIDN'T like to tell her.
TO PLEASE quit leaning.
ON THE door of our car.
AND WE looked at our watch.
AND ALL she did.
WAS TO ask us the time.
AND TELL us again.
SHE WAS very sure.
HER HUSBAND would be late.
AND ALL the time.
SHE WAS leaning on the door.
AND ALONG about then.
SHE SAW her husband.
STANDING ON the corner.
AND SHE hoo-hooed to him.
AND WE started the engine.
AND THE lady said:
"PLEASE DON'T go now.
"I WANT to introduce my husband."
AND THE husband came down.
AND WE all shook hands.
AND HE leaned on the front door.
WHILE FRIEND wife.
LEANED ON the rear door.
AND THEN I said.
I WAS very sorry.
BUT WE had to hurry.
AND AFTER that.
FOR FIVE minutes
THEY KEPT leaning on the car.
AND MAKING us promise.
WE WOULD call and see them.
AND WE missed the train.
AND AFTER the strike is over.
I'M GOING on a street car again.
AND IF there's any lady.
WANTS TO lean against that.
SHE CAN go as far as she likes.
FOR ALL of me.

I THANK you.

More Truth Than Poetry

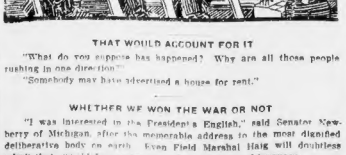
THE HARD CIDER BARREL

By S. E. KISER.

HOW dear to his heart is the hard cider barrel,
As the farmer who owns it presents it to view;
The glad "city feller" is led to the cellar,
Feeling almost afraid it's too good to be true.
Forgetting the glitter that's gone, and forever,
And promising eagerly never to tell,
He takes the first swallow and then others follow;
The taste isn't nice, but it does very well;
And he lingers to talk of the crops and the weather,
Forgetting the dampness, the gloom and the smell.

HE pulls up a box and sits down by the barrel,
And he sips and sips on till his speech becomes thick;
The cellar is musty, the dipper is rusty,
But he asks for more cider, and praises its kick.
His wife may be wondering where he is trying
To induce men to order the goods he must sell,
As he pauses to pity "the boys" in the city,
Or babbles concerning the lengthened dry spell,
While the farmer looks on and indulges in chuckles
Because the old barrel is paying so well.

A GLOW seems to rest on the hard cider barrel,
Its hoops become golden, the cellar grows bright;
Sweet music is playing and lanterns are swaying,
And people are dancing with sudden delight.
The train rushes on past a dozen way-stations,
The farmer has vanished, why no one can tell;
The whistle is screaming, he wakes from his dreaming,
And the barrel is gone, and the cellar as well!
So he sighs as he quenches the thirst he possesses
With stuff that the train-boy is willing to sell.



THAT WOULD ACCOUNT FOR IT

"What do you suppose has happened? Why are all those people rushing in one direction?"

"Somebody may have advertised a house for rent."

WHETHER WE WON THE WAR OR NOT

"I was interested in the President's English," said Senator Newberry of Michigan, after the memorable address to the most dignified deliberative body on earth. Even Field Marshal Haig will doubtless admit that our chief executive has a fine command of language.

SUCH THINGS SHOULD BE DONE CAREFULLY

John D. Rockefeller gave a number of boys a nickel apiece, a few days ago. We hope he admonished the youngsters concerning the folly of spending their money recklessly or all in one place.

THINK WELL BEFORE YOU TAKE LIFE PARTNER

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

WE often hear people say in commenting on the experiences of others, "I could not have lived through the things she has endured," or, "If such and such a thing should happen to me I would die. I couldn't bear it."

But human nature is a strange thing. If the circumstances we shudder over in imagination actually occur to us we meet them with a strength and courage we had not believed ourselves capable of.

This was exemplified in a letter I have had from a woman who has passed through fire and flood and has come out triumphantly.

She was peculiarly alone in the world, having been left an orphan without either brothers or sisters or any near relative. When quite young she met a man who had the gift of presenting himself and his affairs in a roseate light. Her illusions about him were soon shattered, for she discovered immediately after marriage that he was a conscientious objector to any kind of work, and that his capacity for drink was unlimited. He celebrated the birth of their first child with a spree which lasted six months.

In order to live and take care of her child, the woman went to work in a factory. Later, another child was born and life became still harder for her. The children were both ill from lack of proper nourishment; her small household effects went for food, and then under the strain her own health gave way.

A Hopeless Case

But even under these circumstances her husband remained a martyr to his principles. He would not work, and to drown his sorrows he drank deep and continuously. In order to make his hard lot more bearable, his parents supplied him with food and a little money; but they either could not or would not provide for his family.

"There were three weeks," the wife writes, "in which I did not sleep, and as for eating, there was nothing to eat.

"I suppose it was only imagination, but one night as I sat by the window I heard a voice say plainly, 'Leave him! You are only digging your own grave and those of your children.' And then and there I made my resolve and stuck by it. When I told my husband, he beat me for the first and last time. He never had another chance.

"I left him, and lived in a shack with my two small children. I had not a friend in the world, and not five cents to buy a loaf of bread with. But somehow I got along.

Another woman has written me of an experience similar to the one I have just related, although not so heart-rending.

She married a man who told her glittering tales about his income and his prospects in life; but soon after the wedding she discovered that he was relying on her to be the bread-winner and mainstay of the family. After a few years, during which she accepted the position he had assigned to her, he was apparently seized with a desire to travel and departed without leaving her his future address. She asks me what I would suggest her doing?

Well Rid of Him

I suggest that she rejoice in being free from so useless an encumbrance, and that if he ever returns the only welcome she gives him is that of a barred door.

The moral of these two stories is comprised in the old saying, "Look before you leap." The most foolish thing a girl can do is to marry a man without having informed herself as to his habits and manner of life. Promises of reform are not worth the paper they are written on or the breath it takes to utter them.

THE SKELETON IN THE HOTEL BAGGAGE ROOM

The familiar "skeleton in the family closet" is outdone by the latest New York murder mystery. A New York hotel has a mystery of "the skeleton in the baggage room!" This is as unusual a problem as any Conan Doyle or Anna Katherine Green every set themselves to unravel. What is the story of the skeleton—and where is the other suitcase with the rest of the body? A true detective story, in the next

Men and Millions Sailing. How Many Save $2,000? Kings Are Made Fools.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1919.)

There is fresh complaint about Koreans killed by the Japanese. Three hundred and sixty-one is the latest number of little Korean gentlemen, with their tall big hats, sent hastily into the next world by the "culture" of Japan, and some 16,000 are arrested. On the other hand, Japan announces that she will allow Koreans to become Christians if they want to without molestation. That ought to help.

Do you wonder that kings become foolish and exaggerate their importance and wisdom? Observe the reception planned for the Prince of Wales, barely out of his teens, who never did anything except come into the world as son of his father and mother. A battleship will bring the boy to this continent; there will be a grand reception at sea; 5,000 soldiers will salute him, and the Duke of Devonshire, who has the fine big house in Piccadilly, will be at the dock salaaming politely.

Everybody will bow and scrape, and the young gentleman will get the impression that the continent of North America has been waiting for his arrival to put the finishing touch on the work of Christopher Columbus and others.

The youth is said to be a nice quiet little boy. It will not be his fault if thirty or forty years of his kind of life and treatment should make a fool of him and later get him into the sort of trouble that afflicted his second cousin, the Kaiser of Germany.

To what extent will the government of the United States, which is to receive the young man formally, do its share by indicating that it rather regrets on the whole the unpleasant attitude that George Washington took toward the British Crown.

"Raisuli is on the warpath again."

How that line takes you back to old days, before there was any German war, when Theodore Roosevelt was practically our whole army, navy and military hope. The United States was advertising for Raisuli's dead body. Theodore Roosevelt is gone, but Raisuli, like Villa, is still alive and in the bandit business. Bandits seem to be healthy in Morocco, Mexico and nearer home.

In one day recently four thousand Italian workers went home on board three ships, taking eight million dollars with them. They earned the eight millions by good work. May they enjoy it.

Their departure adds interest to the suggestion that all immigration be shut out of the United States.

Skilled mechanics and their trade unions are most anxious to stop immigration. This question might interest them:

IF YOU DON'T HAVE MEN TO DIG FOUNDATIONS, WORK THAT YOU WON'T DO, HOW ARE YOU TO FIND SKILLED JOBS, LAYING BRICK, PUTTING UP STEEL, PUTTING IN PLUMBING? The foundation must come first.

If you don't have labor in the coal mines, and on the farms, where are industries to get coal on which your high-priced skilled labor depends, and where are you to get food?

Here is another question interesting to the American workers.

Every Italian that enrolled had at least two thousand dollars in cash with him. Some had five thousand, some more than ten thousand.

How many American workers in a hundred would have an average of two thousand dollars apiece saved up? And is not saving, in view of unpleasant future possibilities, too much neglected? In your old age it does not matter how much you used to earn. What matters is how much you have saved.

Germans are able to figure exactly what war cost them. Germany's debt before the war was $82 for every man, woman and child. Now it is about $2,500, so that war has cost every German a little more than twenty-four hundred dollars, and that amount of debt rests on each German head.

The Cologne Zeitung says the debt of Germany far exceeds the total wealth of Germany. Perhaps it does now. But while the debt of Germany may be greater than the wealth of Germany, it isn't greater than the value of the fifty-seven million Germans that made part of the sixty-five millions formerly included in the German empire.

Two Versions

A young lover who had decided to make the great approach was convinced that a few words would suffice to assure his good fortune. He only lacked a beginning, a beautiful, poetic, inspiring beginning. At length he found it. Presenting himself to the desired one and suddenly showing her a ring, he said: "My love for you is like this ring—it has no end." The young lady examined the golden circlet for a while with close attention, and then returned it to him. "My love for you," she said, "is also like this ring—it has no beginning!"
